

Committee Takes On Flag Issue

OTTAWA (CP)—With a sigh of relief, the Commons mercifully suspended the flag debate Thursday and gave a committee six weeks to come up with an acceptable design.

Dr. Taylor: Education Today's Necessity

VANCOUVER (CP)—The president of the University of Victoria said Thursday night this is the age of education and Canadians must realize it.

Dr. Malcolm Taylor said in a speech to the annual banquet of the Western Canada Hospitals Association one in every three Canadian children never gets past Grade 8 in school.

Yet a man with no more than a Grade 8 education was ineligible for 70 per cent of today's jobs.

NEW FORCES
A major challenge of today was raising education standards and providing facilities.

"New forces are cutting at the roots of our well-being. Unemployment is sapping our national growth and human morale. We have a labor force seriously underqualified. We face a threat of isolation from world markets."

"Separatist movements are striking at the foundation of Confederation. There is a creeping malaise of the spirit."

POSSIBLE?
"Is it possible for a free nation of free men to contrive the means whereby society can continue to flourish and foster the growth and development of everybody in it?"

There are grave doubts that it can be done, he said.

"We recognize we must take stronger measures than we have taken so far."

"With an average of four per cent of our labor force unemployed, our productivity is clearly at least four per cent less than it might have been. In each of the years 1962 and 1963 this amounted to a loss of more than $2,000,000,000 in our gross national product."

"The age of the ploughshare and the axe opened up the west. But this is the age of education, and we must realize it."

'Liberation Army' Arab Plan

ALEXANDRIA, U.A.R. (UPI)—The 13-nation Arab bloc, in a major move against Israel, Thursday night approved formation of a Palestinian "liberation army."

Informal sources said $30,000,000 was pledged to the army by the United Arab Republic, Saudi Arabia, Iraq and Kuwait.

ARMY COMMAND

U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser told the Arab heads of states meeting here at their second summit conference that he would place the Sinai Peninsula and the Gaza Strip at the disposal of the Palestinian Liberation Front, which will command the army.

Cheques Uncashed

OTTAWA (CP)—Privy Council President George McInnis said Thursday Opposition Leader Diefenbaker is not cashing cheques covering the increased expense allowances for Members of Parliament. Nor have the cheques been returned.

Pension Plan Pushes On On Schedule

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Judy LaMarsh told the Commons Thursday that the government still intends to have the Canada Pension Plan in operation by Jan. 1, 1966.

She made the statement as the Commons turned away from the flag debate and resumed consideration of the health department's $2,000,000,000 spending program for the fiscal year ending next March.

Stanley Knowles, House leader for the New Democratic Party and his group's spokesman on health matters, urged that the legislation be placed before the Commons by next week.

TIME SHORT

He said time was running short for the government to meet the Jan. 1 deadline.

Charles - Arthur Gauthier (Creditiste-Roberval) said he wasn't impressed by the pension plan. It would take money from the pockets of family men earning as little as $3,000 and in 20 or 30 years "return only crumbs."

He said it would be better if the government increased the present old age pension of $75 monthly to $100 or $125 and made it payable at age 65 without a means test.

HEALTH PLAN

Miss LaMarsh also said that a health plan for the nation is still some time away. The first report of the royal commission on health now was under intensive study by 14 committees in her department.

The government's position on the commission report would be completed in time for a federal-provincial conference on health early in 1965.

Miss LaMarsh said that first youth allowances cheques will be received by about 375,000 parents at the end of this month.

ALLOWANCES

The allowances of $10 monthly were passed by Parliament last month and are to go to parents of 16- and 17-year-olds who are in school or unable to attend school because of ill health.

The program would cost $27,000,000 in the fiscal year ending March 1 and about $45,000,000 over a full year, she said. The budget for the fitness and amateur sport branch of her department was being raised to $1,000,000 from $2,000,000.

Brutal Beating Attempted Murder Charged

By BOB FETHICK

His head covered with blood, a young man staggered from thick brush at 1 p.m. Thursday to collapse on the porch at 4481 Prospect Lake Road.

Four hours later, Saanich detectives near the scene of the brutal beating arrested two Victoria men found in the bushes.

Charges of attempted murder, robbery with violence, and car theft have been laid against two men, who will appear in Saanich magistrate's court at 10 a.m. today.

THIRD HUNTED
Police are seeking a third man.

The beaten man, Nicola Zegoric, in his 30s, of no fixed address, was in only fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital at press time, with severe head injuries.

Zegoric, believed to have been from out of town and visiting Victoria, was arrested Wednesday night on a charge of being drunk in a public place. He was released Thursday morning.

BOTTLES FOUND

At the scene of the beating, at the southern end of Prospect Lake, police found broken bottles.

Saanich detectives believed Zegoric was picked up somewhere in Victoria and taken to Prospect Lake by car.

The car had apparently parked at the end of a small lane off the 4400 block Prospect Lake Road. The young man and his assailants walked farther on up a steep hill to the place where the beating took place.

PAPERS IN BUSHES

Police found blood on a stone and on leaves at the scene.

Zegoric's personal papers were found in the bushes nearby.

His wallet was later found by Saanich police dog Rex, who brought it to dogmaster Const. James White.

Two men were arrested near the lane by Saanich Det. Sgt. Robin Stewart and Saanich Det. Ron Coulter and Cpl. Robert King of the RCMP.

SAW HIM FALL

Police found Zegoric's car on Prospect Lake Road after making the arrests, but did not explain how the car got there.

The beaten man crawled and staggered about a quarter of a mile toward the home of Mrs. M. J. Collin, said police.

Mrs. Collin told police she saw him fall, apparently unconscious. He got up again and came to the porch of the house. Then he collapsed near the porch. Mrs. Collin phoned the Saanich fire department ambulance.

Thursday evening police took out a search warrant to search a Victoria apartment.

Vehemence Not Violence Quebec Plan

MONTREAL (CP)—Pierre Bourque, president of Le Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale, said Thursday night the Quebec separatist organization has no intention of "giving the Queen a warm welcome" and will not be "polite."

He told a party meeting Le Rassemblement "will be in Quebec City" on her arrival there Oct. 10 and that Quebecers should protest her visit "with vehemence."

But he added: "I do not say with violence."

Pinelands Slow Dora's Punch

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Dora lost her punch Thursday night in the pinelands of northern Florida. President Johnson declared her earlier path of flood and destruction a major disaster area.

A team of top-level investigators planned to fly to St. Augustine and Jacksonville, Fla., and Brunswick, Ga., today to assess the damage so federal rehabilitation grants can be made.

The U.S. small business administration also declared stricken sections of Georgia and Florida disaster areas. That will enable home owners and businessmen to secure low-interest loans for the big repair job ahead.

EYE CLOSES

Dora, once a massive storm, deteriorated as she marched from St. Augustine to the state capital of Tallahassee and westward through the Florida panhandle.

Her eye, which passed directly over St. Augustine, oldest city in the U.S., during the pre-dawn darkness, almost completely disappeared. The highest winds recorded inland were less than 50 miles an hour.

NO POWER

Jacksonville and St. Augustine were both left largely without power. Many of their streets were flooded by an eight-foot tide. Dozens of buildings were damaged by water and winds of more than 100 miles an hour.

Damage was unofficially estimated in the tens of millions of dollars.

About 100 miles to the north, the resort city of Brunswick, Ga., stirred back to life after taking its worst pounding in 20 years.

The Red Cross, which said it housed and fed 32,000 persons in 370 shelters in Florida, Georgia and South Carolina, pledged all-out aid to help the hurricane victims recover.

Fickle Sally Veers Misses Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—Sally lived up to the fickle nature of typhoons today.

She changed her mind and direction six times and finally veered east of this tightly shuttered colony, causing relatively little damage.

Weather experts throughout the South China Sea had predicted Typhoon Sally would be "one of the worst in living memory."

However, her winds turned out to be slight compared to the 160-mile-an-hour attack Typhoon Ruby hurled against Hong Kong six days ago.

Ruby left 41 killed, more than 300 injured and 50,000 homeless, plus three ships sunk and 15 grounded.

Sally carried a sting, even though she was a lightweight compared with Ruby.

At last count her toll was one dead, 20 injured and more than 9,000 refugees evacuated from their shacks.

Two landslides caused by the more than four inches of rain which followed Sally were reported to have trapped several people in their homes.

One person was injured and another trapped when two rocks weighing about ten tons fell onto a shack. Several house collapses were reported.

Typhoon Sally played a cat-and-mouse game with Hong Kong. The winds inflicted by Ruby had still not healed by Thursday morning and this overcrowded colony made extensive preparations, expecting the worst.

Saturday

Community Leader To Open Sooke Fair

Sooke Community Association chairman Len Jones has been chosen to open the Sooke Fair Saturday.

The fair is to run from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. with children's rides available Friday night as well as all day Saturday.

The community hall is being packed from basement to beams with livestock and craft exhibits, say officials.

MAIN FLOOR

Poultry and livestock will be shown in the building's basement while most of the fruits, vegetables, flowers and crafts will be displayed on the main floor.

The work of local artists will be hung in the main hall and commercial exhibitors have set up displays that will be supervised by attendants ready to answer questions about the products shown.

Victoria MP To Plead For Veterans

Victoria Liberal MP David Gross left Victoria Thursday to attend a meeting of the Hong Kong Veterans Association at Winnipeg.

He said he had been home for the past few days "attending to some constituency business."

He recently introduced a private member's survey of motion asking for a notice of the health and welfare of the hundreds of ex-servicemen who were imprisoned after the fall of Hong Kong to the Japanese.

Also scheduled is a pet parade and bicycle decoration contest for the children.

Outdoorsman Represents B.C.

Recreation Minister Kenneth Eilman announced Thursday that G. E. Megde, former Vancouver outdoors columnist and for the past seven years secretary of the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs, has been appointed B.C. government travel representative in Vancouver.

Art Workshop

About 65 Greater Victoria teachers will go back to school today but this time they'll be the students.

The teachers from Grades 4 to 7 will attend a two-day art workshop at Central Junior High School.

They will learn about modern creative art education from art teacher Mrs. Nancy Curry who holds a degree from Texas Women's College.

MODELING CLAY

Sponsored by Canadian Crayon Co. Ltd., the workshop will include the use of crayons, powder paints, colored shells and modeling clay.

Simple craft techniques will also be shown, giving teachers an opportunity to work with paper, paste and other materials to gain three-dimensional effects.

Each workshop activity will be an experience which teachers can relate to their own classroom teaching.

The workshop will be held Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday.

Committee Takes On Flag Issue

Creditiste Leader Real Caouette did not attend the leaders' meeting. He said he had already approved of a committee and would go along with any acceptable formula.

There were indications from all sides that if the committee turns in a recommendation, backed by a good majority of its members, the proposed flag would get parliamentary approval with a minimum of delay. But Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said outside the Commons that unless the committee returns a recommendation by a "substantial majority—then the debate will have to proceed as before."

CONFIDENT

Mr. Pearson said in his announcement he is confident the committee will begin its work with the blessings of all members. "While we may have these differences, and while we may express these differences very strongly, I know... we have no differences in our devotion and loyalty to a strong and united Canada."

For the first time in the flag debate, a speech by the prime minister was soundly applauded in the Conservative benches.

CAN'T BE IMPOSED

Mr. Diefenbaker, who spoke after the prime minister, said he hoped for a virtually unanimous decision by the committee, "for after all flags cannot be imposed."

"While fighting strongly throughout for what I believe to be right in the interests of our country, my foremost consideration at all times has been to conciliate..." He said members could be proud of belonging to a chamber that has brought about "so complete an agreement."

MEETING BASIS

NDP Leader T. C. Douglas, whose suggestions for a compromise formed a basis for Thursday's meeting, said he hoped the agreement "will not be spoiled by anyone trying to take credit for it" or that it will be damaged by anyone accusing a party of beating a retreat. He hoped the press would not make any such accusations.

The prime minister said outside the House that he didn't consider the issue in terms of victory or defeat. "My objective, my party's objective has been from the first to achieve a distinctive Canadian flag that will bring the people of Canada closer together. If we do that everyone will be victorious."

13 Needed To Agree On Flag

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a very embarrassing problem. Every morning when I get up I have to spit up yellow stuff, and my breath is terrible. I'm embarrassed to see a doctor about it, so could you suggest a mouth wash or medicine for me—MRS. J.A.C.

This "yellow stuff" doesn't originate in the mouth, so a wash won't help. It could be infection in the nasal passages; it could be bronchiectasis (a condition of the bronchial tubes). Don't be embarrassed about telling your doctor; he's seen a lot of these cases, and corrected most of them, too. It needs treatment, but not a mouth wash or any medicine you can use yourself.

FREDERICTON (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Thursday night that at least 13 members of the coming flag committee will be needed to fit the requirement for substantial majority support of any design chosen.

"I think 13 members would be substantially unanimous," he said in an interview on arrival here to speak to the Progressive Conservative-sponsored national conference on Canadian goals.

Mr. Diefenbaker was referring to the instructions under which the flag committee will operate in attempting to reach a compromise on a design for a distinctive Canadian flag.

"Unless they are substantially unanimous, we will continue the flag debate and argue for a national plebiscite," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

He said that with the lengthy flag debate now suspended by the Commons, he hopes the government will introduce legislation, then call a short recess of about two weeks.

'Aid Human Capital'

FREDERICTON, N.B. (UPI)—Opposition leader John Diefenbaker, flashing a jubilant smile for cheering Tories, arrived here Thursday night to take part in the party's thinkers' conference.

The party leader is to address the Conservatives' national conference on Canadian goals at the University of New Brunswick this morning.

An American economist urged Thursday that politicians take positive steps to aid education and improve health services in recognition of great social and economic benefits to the community.

HUMAN CAPITAL

Burton A. Weisbrod of the University of Wisconsin estimated that close to half the rate of economic growth of a country may arise from such investment in human capital.

He suggested that government has a responsibility to take a number of concrete steps.

1. Keep people fully informed of the long-run benefits from education, health and other forms of investment in people.

2. Supplement private sources of such investment through direct aid, loans and guarantees of private loans.

3. Provide at least as much incentive in tax laws for such investments as now is given for investment in physical assets.

Dr. Weisbrod said the investment character of health spending was demonstrated by studies indicating that productivity losses through polio in the United States a few years ago ran to $16,000,000 a year. Mass immunization of all under age 35 and continuing immunization of the newborn cost only $27,000,000 a year.

The 200 delegates also heard Dr. A. N. McLeod, chief economist of the Toronto-Dominion Bank, argue that governments are beginning to find the road to full employment and stable economic devices.

Your Good Health

Stuttering Usually Caused By Emotional Tension

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: My three-year-old son started stuttering six months ago. The condition is getting worse. Is this hereditary? What advice can you offer?—MRS. L.H.

No, it is not hereditary. It is generally the result of too much tension, trying too hard, being worried about speech, etc.

First, don't put that pressure on the youngster. Second, get some professional advice on how to handle the problem. If there is continual discord in the family, or if the child is being pushed too hard to learn to do this, that and the other thing, suspect emotional tension.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has arthritis in the lumbar region (lower back and hip) and has been told to keep active and take aspirin if the pain becomes severe.

For six years he worked and the pain left him completely. A year ago he accepted a supervisor's job which includes driving a pick-up truck all day.

Within two months his trouble returned and worsened by the day. He won't even bend his back because it hurts too much.—MRS. G.B.C.

I wonder if his problem is entirely arthritis—or only partly. Not every pain is arthritis. Furthermore, there are different kinds of arthritis. Your mention of pain in his back AND HIP raises the question at least. Could neuritis be involved? Could some of the pain be muscles, perhaps? Other than the arthritis itself, is some pain preventing him from moving? As a result of immobility stiffness from the arthritis will increase and in turn this will be more painful when he moves the joints.

A pad, cushion or backrest when he sits in the truck may give him more support for the back, and change his posture enough to make him more comfortable.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a very embarrassing problem. Every morning when I get up I have to spit up yellow stuff, and my breath is terrible. I'm embarrassed to see a doctor about it, so could you suggest a mouth wash or medicine for me—MRS. J.A.C.

Truck Deaths Bring Truce

BONDUEL, Wis. (AP)—The death of two members of the National Farmers Organization under the wheels of a heavy truck has brought a truce in the Wisconsin part of a campaign to withhold livestock from the market.

Governor John W. Reynolds said that Oren Lee Staley, president of the farmers' group, had ordered cancellation of all previously planned Wisconsin demonstrations pending a meeting in the governor's office today.

Reynolds referred to the deaths as "the senseless shedding of blood."

The farmers were killed when a cattle truck lurched forward as hundreds of angry demonstrators attempted to block its entry into the yards of the Equity Co-operative Livestock Sales Association.

The truck was driven by Ivan Mueller, 40, who has been charged with homicide by reckless conduct, a charge carrying a maximum penalty of a fine up to $2,500 and up to five years in jail or both.

Post Office Peepers Prompt Pickets

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—The Postal Employees' Association here has decided to picket a cornerstone-laying ceremony for a new post office Friday in protest of proposed washroom "peepholes."

Peepholes are used to watch employees sorting mail. Workers are objecting to the peepholes in toilets of the new building.

Trouble in India

Federal Control Imposed in Kerala

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Indian President S. Radhakrishnan Friday imposed federal rule over the Communist-dominated southern state of Kerala where the ruling Congress Party government was voted out of power by the legislature.

The president invoked powers provided for in the constitution when efforts to form a new government failed.

A communique, issued on the eve of his departure for Moscow on a state visit, said that since constitutional machinery had broken down in Kerala, Radhakrishnan had assumed all the powers of the state government as of Friday.

The communique also announced the dissolution of the legislature in Kerala—the only one of the 16 Indian states not ruled by the Congress party of Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri.

New Sex Emerging In British Tailoring

LONDON (AP)—The voice of British tailoring complained Friday that it's getting harder and harder to distinguish between the British male and female.

What with long hair on the men and pants on the women, it said, a new sex seems to be emerging—"middlesex."

The complaint came from

Tailor and Cutter, organ of the British clothing industry.

"The gentlemen's tailor and the ladies' tailor could be supplemented by the don't know's tailor."

"Then these weird unrecognizable lads and their equally formidable female equivalents could be usefully catered for in sympathetic surroundings."

'Passengers Should Face Rear of Car'

WATERTON PARK, Alta. (CP)—An Alberta doctor wants the Canadian Medical Association to approve cars which are designed for maximum highway safety.

In a speech to the Alberta division of the CMA Thursday, Dr. F. M. Christie, a Lethbridge physician, described the ideal safety car as having only the driver facing the front of the vehicle. All passengers would be turned to the rear.

The steering column, now one of the major causes of highway deaths, would be replaced by a steering bar embedded in the dashboard.

The passenger compartment would be free of rigid, protruding objects.

Tax Cuts?

IT IS STRONGLY rumored in Ottawa that the government is likely to follow the lead of the United States by bringing about substantial income tax cuts next year.

Such optimistic speculation, observers report, is mainly due to two factors; one being the happy experience of the United States government which discovered that income tax reductions resulted in stimulating the American economy and increasing employment, the other that Canada's financial situation continues to improve.

Canada's healthy economy over the past year, they say, has already made it possible for Finance Minister Walter Gordon to reduce his 1963-64 budget deficit by $66,000,000. Thus, it is predicted, if production and trade continues at the present pace Mr. Gordon should be able to cut his 1964-65 budgetary deficit by as much as $150,000,000 thereby allowing him to introduce some income tax relief.

However, happy as this thought might be to most Canadians they would be foolish if they regarded such conjecture as anything but wishful thinking at the present time.

It should be remembered that before it took office the Liberal Party pledged itself to the ending of deficit budgeting. If it is to honor this promise there can be no possibility of tax reductions for many years. Even the most optimistic forecast predicts a deficit exceeding $200,000,000 for the 1964-65 fiscal period.

Nor should it be forgotten that since taking office the Liberal government has announced its intention of introducing both a national pension plan and a national medicare scheme—programs which undoubtedly will cost the country millions of dollars.

Obviously, here too, if the government is to honor these promises there can be no possibility of tax reductions for many years ahead.

Clearly the only thing that could possibly bring about an income tax cut in the next year or so is the threat of an election. Such a move would not be unprecedented in the annals of Canadian political history—it is indeed the oldest election gimmick of them all. It would, in fact, just be a case of vote now—pay later.

Banda at Bay

THOUGH THE WESTERN world may look with some favor upon Prime Minister Hastings Banda of Malawi for his action this week in refusing to grant diplomatic recognition to Communist China it could not be blamed for regarding certain other of his recent activities with some misgivings.

A little more than two months ago Dr. Banda became leader of the independent nation of Malawi which was formerly the British Protectorate of Nyasaland. At the time of the independence celebrations Dr. Banda told the Duke of Edinburgh and other distinguished visitors that the country was united behind him.

But when his brave words echoed strangely as he fired three of his senior cabinet ministers and accepted the resignation of three others.

This week the situation still remains confused; another cabinet minister has resigned and the Malawi leader has placed himself behind a barrier of loyalist security forces.

Dr. Banda in explaining his present predicament has placed the full blame for the Malawi upheaval on Communist sympathizers in his government whom he claims have been influenced by the Red Chinese embassy in neighboring Tanganyika.

However, before Washington swallows his story and begins to regard him as another hero fighting for democratic freedom, the U.S. State Department would be well advised to thoroughly investigate the situation in the former colony at first hand.

They may well find that Dr. Banda's troubles are caused not by the Reds—but by Dr. Banda himself.

Downwind Complaint

COUNCILLOR HUGH CURTIS has suggested that representatives of the Saanich and Victoria councils should meet to discuss easing of the smoke problem. The smoke from city mills, he notes, invades his municipality without the consolation of accompanying tax revenues.

That such a meeting could at this time produce effective new ideas for curtailing the nuisance must be regarded as extremely doubtful. City council and its advisers have been thinking hard about the subject for years, even if to no one's complete satisfaction.

Because the aldermen have been caught between the fear of losing industry and the residential and commercial need of clean air, progress has been so slow as to be almost unnoticeable. Perhaps it could have been accelerated if long before now, Saanich councillors had gone to bat for their affected taxpayers, no small number in the area downwind from the Victoria industrial district. It is late in the game, however, to be suggesting that at this point representatives of the municipality might help solve the problem.

But the proposal, tardy as it is, does serve to emphasize again the need for air-pollution regulation and control on a wider basis than within individual municipal or civic boundaries. Victoria is not the only centre of industry that is offending leeward neighbors who can do nothing to protect themselves. And thus even though the city's smoke and cinder production will be much abated next spring, if present expectations are fulfilled, when the last of the cone burners is closed down, it will still be a laudable object of community representatives if they press for a provincial code to give equal protection to all settled areas, and to rule out any locality trying to attract or retain industry, in competition with others, by offering less restriction in this respect.

Another Change?

MR. RHEAUME: A supplementary question, Mr. Speaker. Will the minister assure the House he has not been pressuring Canadian Pacific Air Lines to change its name to Air Pacific Canada?

Mr. Pickersgill: Mr. Speaker, I have not even heard of that suggestion before, but if the hon. gentleman wants them to do that no doubt he can carry on his own propaganda.

Latin America

The Disliked Monroe Doctrine

By FRANK S. MORLEY
Associate Editor, The Lethbridge Herald
(Fourth of a Series)

LATIN America does not like the Monroe Doctrine. A professor from that continent attending the Conference on World Development at Banff testily declared he did not know what it really was. Argentina refuses to recognize its existence.

Yet Argentina would not exist without it. The Monroe Doctrine came into existence because San Martin had founded Argentina, Bolivar had created Venezuela, and O'Higgins had carved out Chile. France and Austria were eager to help Spain regain her lost colonies. In 1823 President Monroe after much conversation with Britain, issued the historic statement "that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety." The declaration also warned Alexander I of Russia who was greedily claiming the Pacific coastline clear down into Oregon and 100 miles out to sea, threatening to cut off the lucrative fur trade with China. The United States was, for her part, pledged not to interfere in the internal concerns of any (European) powers.

The brave claim would have been non-existent and impossible without the support of the British navy. Jefferson and Madison saw this clearly and Walter Lippmann in his study of American foreign policy states it emphatically. Britain, however, received the declaration with unqualified glee. Canning exulted, "Latin America is free and, if we do not mismanage our affairs sadly, she is British."

It was by no means merely a mercantile triumph for either Britain or the United States. Much idealism was attached to it. Mary Baker Eddy expressed the American enthusiasm and respect for it as the cornerstone of foreign policy. "I believe strictly in our Constitution, in the laws of God, and in the Monroe Doctrine."

The Monroe Doctrine saved Mexico from Napoleon III attempted to put the puppet Maximilian on the throne. President Johnson instructed his secretary of state, Seward, to advise Napoleon that the United States considered his action hostile. The Americans were quite prepared to fight and Napoleon withdrew, leaving Maximilian who would be executed by the Mexicans.

Why then is it resented by Latin America? Because, they say, it has been used arrogantly and also as a cloak for American imperialism as they pushed across the continent on their march to Manifest Destiny taking Texas, part of Mexico and California on the way, and establishing their economic control over the whole hemisphere.

One notorious example came in 1898 when Venezuela clashed with Britain over the Guiana boundary. Secretary of State Olney in a most offensive declaration trumpeted that the United States was "sovereign on this continent" and its "flat is law." Venezuela was pleased but no one else. To jingoistic Theodore Roosevelt's profound disgust war did not break out, the British secretary of state, Lord Salisbury, keeping a cool head. He pointed out, however, that the Monroe Doctrine had no existence in international law, being a unilateral declaration by the United States.

The war-mongering Teddy in 1904 added the famous (or infamous according to Latin America) Roosevelt corollary that "in flagrant cases of wrongdoing or impotence" on the part of any nation in the Western Hemisphere the United States would "exercise an international police power." He then proceeded to use his big stick on the Dominican Republic and Cuba. President Wilson tried to reverse the hostile trend, but followed the policy of refusing recognition to any government of whose policy was considered immoral. Despite his sincere desire for Latin American friendship he became involved in a serious conflict with Mexico, imposed a military occupation on the Dominican Republic, intervened in Haiti, established a control of Nicaragua which would be denounced by the Central American Court of Justice, and ran into further trouble with Cuba. He did, however, write the Monroe Doctrine into international law by including it in the Covenant of the League of Nations.

President Franklin Roosevelt finally succeeded in establishing "The Good Neighbor Policy" which in 1936 converted the Monroe Doctrine into a collective pact. In 1938 the "Declaration of the Solidarity of America" was accepted by the 21 republics. In 1940 at Havana they made a joint declaration that no unfriendly European power could seize any part of the Americas. In 1947 the Treaty for Inter-American Defence made the defence of the two countries the responsibility of all American nations.

This treaty provided that "if the inviolability of the integrity of the territory or the sovereignty or political independence of any American state should be affected... by any fact or situation that might endanger the peace of America" an Organ of Consultation should be convoked "to agree on measures which must be taken for the common defence and security of the Continent... No state shall be required to use armed force without its consent."

This treaty therefore legitimized the quarantine of Cuba. To the charge that the quarantine violated Article 51 of the United Nations Charter which says that, "No enforcement action shall be taken under regional arrangements or by regional agencies without authorization of the Security Council," two facts should be pointed out.

Article 51 specifically states that nothing in the Charter impairs "the inherent right of individual or collective self-defence" while Article 52 states the responsibility of regional organizations to provide for regional security. In the second place the matter was referred to the Security Council in an emergency session before the Cuban quarantine went into effect.

The statement by a learned professor at Banff, therefore, that the quarantine was quite illegal and Mexico was not bound to respect it cannot be sustained.

Nor has the United States outrageously flouted its provisions regarding Europe. A static defence became obviously impossible after the turn of the century and the United States was compelled to anticipate attack. After all the southern part of South America is more accessible to Africa and Europe than from the United States and the United States itself is more accessible from Japan, Russia, and Europe than from South America!

Ottawa Offbeat

Sweepout in External Affairs

By RICHARD JACKSON, Colonel Ottawa Bureau

SEVEN years after it initially was promised, an administrative shake-out is in progress at External Affairs.

And a different government than promised it is doing the shaking out. Poor old External Affairs, so long that cool, comfortable, detached, out-of-the-world backwater of the federal administration—it just doesn't know what hit it.

What has, of course—and at last—is the modern mid-Twentieth Century.

And to hear the frightened flutters in External's diplomatic dovecots, it's simply ghastly. Horrible, in fact, more than a civilized chap should have to put up with.

Those "awful men"—to hear the unhappy hands at External tell it—the efficiency experts are loose in the department. And making who-knows-what mad manner of recommendations to External Affairs Minister Paul Martin.

It was as long as seven years ago that External Affairs—the darling of the departments—first felt the hot breath of criticism on its tender neck.

It was 1957 then; the Conservatives had just taken over, and John Diefenbaker was making his first appearance as prime minister at the United Nations in New York.

In his Drake Hotel suite he held a press conference, and since, in his long—17 years—term of service in the official Opposition he had made foreign policy one of his specialties in the House of Commons, the questions-and-answers were inevitably got around to the department of External Affairs.

Those who were there will never forget it.

"I'm wise to those people," said Diefenbaker, darkly, "they don't fool me in External Affairs—for I know they don't do enough in that department to keep themselves warm. There'll be some changes made."

Like what changes? There would be a "house-cleaning," he promised, from turreted attics to the basement vaults in the musty old East Block.

But somehow, nothing happened. Nothing ever in the next six years—except that External, escaping the new-brooming, came, if possible, even more snug.

More than ever, it became a department apart from all the rest. While you "worked" for the government on the payroll of any other department, you were "with" External—on the basis perhaps that ordinary down-to-earth work was a little too vulgar a term for the striped-pants-world of diplomacy.

And at External you were "in." The Department—not, mind you, just any old run-of-the-bureaucracy department like defence or finance, agriculture or transport, justice or even the Privy Council, but "THE" Department.

Well, seven years after Mr. Diefenbaker promised the new-brooming, along came Oom Paul Martin—who prefers to be known as external affairs minister rather than the traditional secretary of state for external affairs—and actually started the sweeping.

Could be that he was a bit annoyed to see all those fancy foreign cars—the Opals, the Bentleys, the Fiats, the Mercedes, the Citroens—brought home, tax-free, by returning External Affairs types, and ranked fender to fender in the departmental parking lot.

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

Gen. George Washington was defeated in the Battle of Brandywine by a British force under Sir William Howe 187 years ago—in 1777. American losses in the engagement, named after the Brandywine River in Pennsylvania near where the battle was fought, were about 1,000 killed, wounded or taken prisoner compared with about 600 British losses. Howe followed up his victory and entered Philadelphia 16 days later.

1909—Halley's comet was first observed at Heidelberg. First World War—Fifty years ago today, in 1914, the German retreat in France became general. The Austrians began to pull out of Galicia after a series of reverses suffered at the hands of the Russians. An Australian expedition captured the German headquarters in New Guinea.

Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today in 1939, Polish troops in Warsaw resisted German attacks in the suburbs. A French communiqué claimed the French armies had made important advances into Germany. The Canadian parliament passed a War Appropriations Act providing for expenditures of $100,000,000.

Washington Calling

Awaiting A Spark

By MARQUE CHILDS
from New York

THE black ghetto of Harlem and the rich delta of Mississippi cotton country are widely separated in space and time. But for all their differences they have certain striking similarities.

At Ruleville in June about the time the three civil rights workers disappeared I saw the broad, flat landscape almost empty of people as the big tractors and the cultivators moved through the cotton rows. Ruleville is under the overlordship of Sen. James O. Eastland who has several thousand acres in cotton.

As recently as 19 years ago he had up to 400 families on his place. Now there are hardly 40 and half of these could be dispensed with. With the advent of the mechanical cotton picker the relief load in the cotton South has gone steadily upward. The Negro is being pushed out of the economy.

The department of labor puts unemployment among Negro youths between 18 and 21 at 25 per cent. This means 25 per cent of those registering for jobs. In Harlem, according to those who know the community, the rate could be 50 per cent, since out of pessimism and apathy many youths feel it is futile to join the job search. Jobs that might have been available 10 or 15 years ago—such as operating an elevator—are wiped out by automation.

Here in this mass joblessness and hopelessness is the raw material of crime and violence. It is like a pall of gasoline standing ready for the match of the exploiters of extreme left and right. HARRYOU-ACT, a federal city agency working with Harlem youths, is trying to show how these young people can be given not only skills to help them get jobs but a belief in themselves and their potential to change their environment.

One of the most disturbing questions is how far the alienation has gone. That is to say how many have come to believe that the white majority means to exclude the Negro and keep him within the black ghetto.

A measure is the success of the Black Muslims, the Black Nationalists, Muhammad X and other separatist sects. Various authorities estimate that in central Harlem, the Black Muslims have anywhere from 50,000 to 100,000 members. But their doctrine of Moslem separatism and superiority has an appeal far beyond the Muslim membership.

A debate going on between city hall and the directors of HARRYOU-ACT is how to win back the alienated in a political light. With the election campaign warming up city hall got a scare. Sensational headlines disclosed that in another project sponsored by the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency a few suspected Communist or Communist-oriented infiltrations had got a hold. The whole project on the lower East Side—Motivation for Youth, Inc.—could be discredited.

So city hall is saying, in effect, keep out all extremists, Black Nationalists and Black Muslims as well as the Communists who can be easily spotted. The able and eager men and women directing HARRYOU-ACT reply: Yes, of course, keep out the Communists which is not too difficult. But how are you going to win back young people who have come under Nationalist or Muslim influence if you exclude them?

The conservative opposition, which is against any kind of self-help experiment with government assistance and condemns the Negro for shiftlessness and inherent incapacity, would like to discover some rotten apples in the barrel. But to win young people over and persuade them that they have a chance to break out of the ghetto and find an outlet for their hopes and ambitions you have to take chances. This is the argument of the HARRYOU-ACT directors.

The immediate struggle of the Negro in Mississippi, with the help of the courageous civil rights workers from the North, is for the right to register and vote. In Harlem, what with apathy and defeatism, widespread crime and drug addiction, the numbers racket and other forms of entrenched corruption, voting seems to mean little.

The Harlem riot that jumped like a prairie fire to Bedford-Stuyvesant in Brooklyn, an enclave containing about 400,000 Negroes, was touched off by the fatal shooting of a 15-year-old Negro boy, James Powell, by Lt. Thomas Gilligan, a policeman off duty at the time. Gilligan says he shot in self-defence when Powell attacked him with a knife. A grand jury sustained Gilligan in a report which Negro leaders call a whitewash. It was feared the grand jury report would trigger new riots. In the ghetto a small spark can light a devastating flame.

Teen-Agers Need a Modern-Day Dumas as Chronicler

LONDON — I was discussing teenage behavior with a Frenchman who is so sublimely rational as to be irritating. The "mods" and the "rockers," England's contribution to teenage warfare, glowered at each other on the seaside. In Harlem, zoot hipsters were throwing bottles at the police. In Russia, they're "stiliagi." In Germany, "lederjackets." In Italy, "frangere." In France, "blousons noirs." The pattern of hell-raising is very much alike everywhere.

"They're the new aristocracy," said the Frenchman. "The new leisure class. What else do you expect? That is the way the aristocracy has behaved since the beginnings of leisure. What is the difference between a mod and a rocker challenging one another to combat—or a zoot hipster against a bop hipster in America—and the king's men wandering around looking for trouble with the cardinal's men in Richelieu's day? Or for that matter, the Capulet and Montague trouble which led to those two teen-agers killing themselves?

"Same rowdiness except that it's universally deplored. But some day a modern Alexandre Dumas or Shakespeare will come along and romanticize all these teenage wars."

"It's been done already," I said. "It's called 'West Side Story' and it seems to have struck a sympathetic note all over the world."

"The French aristocrat, the English aristocrat, the Virginia aristocrat," said the Frenchman. "all had fast horses. The tune-up boys of England have fast motorcycles. In fact, they all go for motorcycles—the Swedes, the Germans, the Americans, because it's more like a horse. The girl on the crupper. In Walter Scott it's romantic. In Bournemouth it's deplorable."

"At Versailles, a French aristocrat spent hours and hours powdering his hair to get it exactly right. So did the English under Charles II. Clothes were of the utmost importance and they spent hours, fitting, fussing, getting everything precisely right. Well, the other day a mod was quoted as saying, 'It's pure dress now. No gimmicks. Your handbag has to look expensive inside.'

"A boy will carry trousers to the dance hall in a polyethylene bag so they don't get creased. They spend hours on their hair—they don't use any old blow-drier, but one with a hood. These are boys, not girls, you understand."

"In Versailles, in fact at every palace in the world, where you stood in the ballroom determined your importance. At the 'mods' favorite spot, the Orehard Ballroom, the high-ranking mods stand left of the band. I imagine it's the same everywhere."

"The young today have acquired the last true hallmark of the aristocrat, which is boredom. Boredom used to be the exclusive property of the aristocracy and the rich since the Roman days. The peasants were hungry, humiliated, oppressed, exhausted, diseased, deprived—but never bored. Sometimes a novelist would write about the boredom of small town or lower class life, but it was the novelist who was bored, not the people."

"Well," I said, "if everyone's going to be an aristocrat, it's going to be no fun. What will the real aristocrats and the big rich do if the teen-agers are taking over their pleasures?"

"Oh, the real ones are giving up all that nonsense," the Frenchman said. "The Earl and Countess of Moray are doing their own cooking, cleaning, and washing up at their shooting lodge. Young Mike Rockefeller was killed off Borneo looking for headhunters under the most primitive conditions. The Earl of Wharfedale runs a pub. A couple others run gas pumps. When everyone has silk and satin, up goes the price of shoddy. Discomfort and deprivation is the fashionable thing among the real moneyed."

RICHARD WILSON's Conservative View

Such a World! Such a Fantasy!

WASHINGTON — Senator Goldwater is talking about the kind of world that never was but that he and many others would like it to be. Who would not want Goldwater's world? It is a world of self-reliance, of problems solved by local endeavor, a world where decency and honor prevail, the streets are safe and beautiful, the home is secure and man has put aside his baser nature. The nation is strong and proud and at peace, and the time-servers and wasters and rascals have left Washington.

It is a world without forms to fill out or numbers to remember, and less taxes to pay but where the old and sick and unfortunate are cared for throughout all their days by virtue of their own diligence. Such a beautiful world! Such a fantasy!

But Senator Goldwater deserves credit for so eloquently describing an American way of life as it might be and perhaps ought to be. He is performing his function as the spokesman of conservatism but he is compelled to admit that the dream world he describes must come slowly. This was his message in his well-written address opening his presidential campaign before a disappointing crowd at Prescott, Ariz.

The functions which have given the U.S. a Big Brother government cannot be junked overnight. Too many millions rely upon those functions as they have been built up through 30 years of social democratic action.

Although Senator Goldwater can vote against hospital aid for the aging as proposed by a Democratic administration, could he avoid providing that aid if he were president? It is to be doubted that he could and the reasons for this doubt showed through in his speech at Prescott.

Senator Goldwater wants what everyone wants, a secure life for those who are diligent. But for many millions the secure life does not always come through diligence and hard work; and although there are many grafters and fakers feeding on the social services still there are many more who need and should have help. The system which Goldwater admires and extols has not provided this help in the necessary degree. Would we have a social security system at all if it had not been imposed on the whole nation by law? This is to be doubted and if ever Senator Goldwater were directly responsible for the welfare of the whole nation, rather than responsible for merely his own senatorial vote, his actions might be quite different.

But this does not mean that Goldwater should not say what he is saying. He would not be the first candidate for president who had outlined a future that was not to be. Much of what Goldwater is talking about has needed saying.

Senator Goldwater's problem is that the kind of moral, ethical, economic and international leadership in the presidency which he is describing is the posture of a strong president at the head of a strong government. This is not so different in general principle from the concepts of the presidency outlined by John F. Kennedy under similar circumstances four years ago.

A strong president committed to decentralizing a strong government may not be entirely a contradiction but there is a conflict which Senator Goldwater has not yet resolved.

This conflict emerges clearly when he talks of terror in the city streets, where the president of the United States does not have primary constitutional jurisdiction. Yet Goldwater would act in some way to encourage the enforcement of local laws, as, in fact, President Johnson is doing now.

BACKGROUND

CAPITAL REPORT

By IAN STREET

Every day in every way the Columbia deal is getting better for British Columbia.

Those were Premier Bennett's words when announcing the $100,000,000 loan to Quebec which will come off the top of the U.S. payment of some $273,000,000 for downstream benefits on the Columbia River.

That was Wednesday—just one week before the payment is to be transferred to the B.C. Hydro Columbia account.

Today the picture looks brighter, if that is possible.

Mr. Bennett has disclosed how he will invest the rest of the money. It will be split among three of the largest of the several dozen financial houses that submitted bids.

The average rate of interest is 5.36 per cent.

This is higher than the approximately 4 1/2 per cent return, on which the Columbia River Treaty was based, that will build the payment received from the U.S. to some $501,000,000 in the next decade. These are only short-term investments, however, and the last of the current series, will be completed by 1968. Whatever money is not required for work in progress on the project will be re-invested.

The premier, an avid football fan, refuses to commit himself to long-range predictions, and when pressed to do so referred to last Tuesday's football game at Empire Stadium when the B.C. Lions had victory snatched from their grasp by a last-second Ottawa field goal.

"The game isn't over until the last whistle blows," says Mr. Bennett.

necessary, the importance of the gigantic Columbia project to Canada as a whole and to the U.S.

Mr. Bennett said the government agreed to lend the province of Quebec $100,000,000 because B.C. wants a strong united Canada.

There's no doubt, to my mind, of the genuineness of the premier's feelings on this score.

He often refers with pride to his United Empire Loyalist connections with his native province of New Brunswick.

But it is typical that while helping Quebec and Canada the premier considered the more direct and immediate benefits that can be gained from the government's action.

More for Development

If the whole $275,000,000 were invested on the open market—and remember it is claimed that this is the largest financial transaction ever completed at one time in Canada—the result could have been a drop in earnings.

It's regarded by financial experts here as unlikely that in these circumstances the interest rate would have reached the 5.36 per cent average obtained by taking $100,000,000 off the top for Quebec.

This way, presumably, everybody's happy and there's that much more money to be spent on development of the Columbia. The $501,000,000 target

Tickets are now on sale at the Kahn's box office for Victoria's first Theatre Arts Ball, to be held Sept. 23 at the Crystal Garden.

John Stanko, of 3757 Fleming St., won the $35,000, fully-furnished prize at the special draw at the PNE Outdoor Theatre Monday night.

The Stankos and their two daughters came to Vancouver from the Ukraine via a German refugee camp in 1949. They had spent three years at the camp.

"Winning had never even entered our minds," Mrs. Stanko said. "When the neighbors told us, we were stunned."

The Stankos will receive a $4,200 cash award, a French poodle pup, and a dog house modelled after the prize home.

COVENTRY, England — Arthur Arch turned 95 Thursday and said the world is moving too fast—20 minutes behind the times for 42 years. He maintains that everybody is out of step but himself. "It's all very simple," he said. "In 1922 the clocks were changed 20 minutes. I never accepted this. Nobody was going to take 20 minutes out of my life. So I just kept my watch at the old time."

"It has never stopped since and it is 20 minutes behind the clock's time that everybody else keeps."

Arch conceded that being a non-conformist has its problems. He has been fired a half dozen times for being 20 minutes late to work. He is consistently 20 minutes late for appointments. He "has missed a lot of trains."

Even his wife keeps "fool's time," he said. "She has to. The radio keeps it to it and she likes to listen to the radio."

"But they won't beat me," Arch said. "I'm going to die 20 minutes late to show them I was right."

NEW YORK — The son-in-law of New York's Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, William Strawbridge Jr., has been named vice-chairman of the executive committee of Westchester County citizens for Democratic nominees President Johnson and Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

COPENHAGEN — Widowed Queen Frederika of the Hellenes, whose son King Constantine is to marry Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark in Athens Sept. 18, has demanded $1,000,000 as dowry, the Danish newspaper Aktuelt reports.

The newspaper's correspondent in Athens says Frederika's "repeated demand" has made many Greeks feel ashamed.

ATSUGI, Japan — A Japanese businessman who lost three of his four sons when a U.S. jet fighter crashed into his factory shouted "give me back my sons!" at Air Force Lt. Gen. Maurice Preston, commander of U.S. forces in Japan.

The businessman, Masamori Takano, and the general were among those attending funeral services for the three sons, aged 19 through 25, and their 26-year-old cousin.

OTTAWA — The organizational groundwork for the new Vanier Institute of the Family is expected to be laid here next week at a Government House meeting. The Rt. Rev. Ernest S. Reed, Anglican bishop of Ottawa, says a provisional committee of 23 people from points in central Canada will gather to discuss the purposes of the institute and to set up a governing body to run it.

HARRISBURG, Pa. — President Johnson has told Americans they will vote Nov. 3 on the "peace of the world" at a time when what he called reckless factions are inviting extremism to take over the United States.

LONDON — A British peer is off to New Orleans to redress a slight to his family honor. The Earl of Longford, 58, said one of his ancestors, Gen. Sir Edward Pakenham, has long been blamed for the defeat of British troops at New Orleans in 1815. But Longford says it wasn't his great-great-uncle, but a naval commander named Cochrane who was responsible for the defeat.

VANCOUVER — Moby Doll has finally eaten—and what a meal! Vancouver's captive killer whale packed away 100 pounds of fish in her first big meal since she was captured two months ago. Previously she had only nibbled on cod and salmon.

QUEBEC — A home-made statue, looking something like a skeleton and resembling Gen. James Wolfe has been found near the scene of the 17th century general's biggest, and last, victory. Quebec City police said the plaster statue, about four feet high, had been painted green and a space left at the neck to make it appear the throat had been slashed.

Strawbridge

Frederika

LONDON — Queen Elizabeth has accepted an invitation to dine with Canadian high commissioners, Lionel Cherrier and Mrs. Cherrier before she flies to Canada next month.

SASKATOON — Dr. M. C. Schmalzer, Regina lawyer facing a conspiracy charge, Thursday was denied an adjournment of the trial after he was obliged to state that he understood the charge against him. Before ruling on the accused's application for adjournment to Oct. 26, Mr. Justice D. C. Dabery insisted on an "unequivocal" reply to the question, "Do you understand the charge?"

SANTIAGO — The women's vote was the deciding factor in the landslide victory of Christian Democrat candidate Eduardo Frei in Chile's presidential election last Friday, official figures show. For the third time in the last 12 years Chilean women blocked the Socialist's way to power.

VANCOUVER — Chew Him Low, about 45, died Thursday soon after he was struck by a truck. Witnesses said the man was looking the wrong way when he ran onto the street in front of the vehicle.

Victoria Man To Explain U.S. Politics

A comparison of Canadian and American political systems will be made by Victoria lawyer Brian Smith at the Sept. 15 meeting of the English Speaking Union at 8 p.m. in the Douglas Building cafeteria.

Mr. Smith attended the Republican nominating convention in San Francisco as the guest of California Young Republicans. He is national vice-president of Canada's Young Conservatives.

Orioles Hold Margin St. Louis Rush Halted

Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees used home runs yesterday to keep pressure on the front-running Baltimore Orioles in the down-to-the-wire American League pennant race.

Elston Howard hit one out of the park in the first inning after Roger Maris had been hit by a pitched ball and Mickey Mantle had drawn a walk to lead the Yankees to a 5-2 win over the Orioles in the seventh.

At Minnesota, ex-Oriole Ron Hansen gave the White Sox a 2-1 win over the Twins with a 10th-inning home run.

But the Orioles maintained their one-game lead over Chicago by spanking Washington Senators, 12-5, on the strength of an eight-run fourth inning which featured a three-run homer by rookie Sam Bowens.

In addition to scoring eight runs in the fourth, the Orioles had the unusual experience of scoring a run on a triple play, which prevented the fifth from being another big inning.

Brooks Robinson hit into a double play with the bases loaded and when Luis Aparicio tried to score from second base, he was nailed at the plate for the inning-ending out. However, the runner on third had already crossed the plate.

At Downing, now 4-0 against the Tigers in his short major-league career, pitched his 11th complete game and 12th win for the Yankees. It was a five-hit shutout bid ruined by Al Kaline's two-run homer.

Joel Horlen and Hoyt Wilhelm, another ex-Oriole, combined for the Chicago win, the decision going to Wilhelm, who pitched the last two innings.

Over in the National League, the slow-pitched Philadelphia Phillies continued to win the game they needed as southpaw Chris Short stopped the sprinting St. Louis Cardinals, 5-1, with a six-hitter.

Winners of 13 of their last 16 games and four in a row.

the Cards cracked a bit to make it easy for Short by committing five errors, two of them in the fifth-inning, second-inning which won it.

Victory ended a three-game losing streak for the Phils and balanced their record at 9-9 since the Cardinals started their run.

Cincinnati Reds and San Francisco Giants, the other pennant hopefuls, both won on excellent pitching.

The Reds bested Pittsburgh's Pirates, 3-0, with Bob Parkey tossing a five-hitter as the one-time teammates, Billy Pierce, veteran southpaw, made his first start of the season and, with late help from Jim Duffalo, beat Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-1.

East to Need Seven Games

BRAMPTON (CP) Bill Castator fired the winning goal as Brampton defeated Brooklyn, 6-5, to knot the best-of-seven Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior A final at 3-3 here Thursday night.

It was the third straight win for Brampton, who had dropped the first three and left them one win away from Mann Cup competition. The seventh and deciding game of the series will be played at Brooklyn Saturday, with the winner meeting the western winner in the Canadian Finals which open in the east Monday.

Maple Leafs Shape Up Get Jankowski, McAvoy

By JIM TANG

Coach Rudy Pilous and a fair chunk of his best talent will be delayed from five days to two weeks but things are looking up for Victoria Maple Leafs, whose Western Hockey League season actually opens at noon on Monday, when more than 15 players are scheduled to report to the club's Memorial Arena training camp.

Manager Buck Houle, who returned with his family Wednesday night from a quick trip to Ontario, brought back considerable reassurance about the calibre of the league's new club.

First reassuring note was struck when Houle announced that Lou Jankowski, long one of the best leftwingers in the WHL, would report directly to the Victoria training camp as soon as he has finished harvesting his peach crop at Port Dover, Ont.

Jankowski is three times a WHL all-star, holds the league record for goals in one season (57) and led the WHL last season with his 41 scoring shots. The 33-year-old smoothie has played only six WHL seasons yet stands ninth on the all-time list of scorers with 256 goals, an average of almost 43 a season.

And while Toronto Maple Leafs, training at Peterborough, have yet to start allocating the 70 players at camp, Houle stated that the Victoria club could count on getting winger Gordie Redahl (25-33), centre John Slevner (23-46), and defenceman

Fred Hucul (8-49), all standout stars last season with Denver Invaders, the defunct WHL champions.

There was also a solid possibility—that the Victoria club could get Sandy Hucul, labelled by many the best WHL defenceman last season.

The Hucul brothers, because of business reasons, are not attending the Toronto training camp and won't join the parent club until it starts its Western trip.

It is expected that both will remain here after the Toronto-Victoria exhibition game on Sept. 28 although Sandy is given a chance to win a place with Toronto. If the younger Hucul makes the grade, Hucul could get either Kent Douglas or Larry Hillman as a replacement.

Defence First, In the Imlach Pattern

In any event, the Victoria Maple Leafs should have the look coach Punch Imlach insists on for his teams—a sound defence operating in front of a solid goalkeeper.

Victoria has the solid goalkeeper in all-star Al Millar and is certain of a veteran, knowledgeable defence comparable to the one which last season was the main reason for Denver's triumph.

Pilous will have seven or eight defencemen from which to choose. Already assigned to Victoria are Bill Shvets, Marty

Howe, Barry Trapp, rookies Ralph Winfield and Harvey Schmidt and George McAvoy.

McAvoy is an unexpected addition. The 33-year-old veteran, who captained the Penitence V when they won the world hockey championship 10 years ago, is trying a comeback after missing one season of professional hockey.

He played five seasons in the American Hockey League and three with Calgary before deciding to give it up temporarily when the Alberta city dropped out of the WHL after the 1962/63 season.

Shvets and Howe were Denver regulars last season and Trapp played 40 games with the Invaders as well as spending part of the season with Rochester in the WHL.

Previously assigned to Victoria and expected to report Monday along with Millar, Trapp, Shvets, Howe, McAvoy, Winfield and Schmidt are Denver forwards Steve Witluk (25-28), Milan Marcetta (23-23), Larry Keenan (25-30) and Dick Lamoureux (5-7) and rookies Ted Hargreaves, Rolfe Wilcox, Dave Toner, Fred Purvis, Heo McFadyen and Gary Holland.

Late-Joiners Will Be Ready to Play

Either Houle or one of the veterans will be in charge of workouts until Pilous arrives, probably a week from tomorrow. Jankowski is expected at about the same time while players yet to be assigned by Toronto, may not join the club until later. However, they will have had an extra 10 days of conditioning and should be ready for the season.

Victoria's Maple Leafs won't skate until Tuesday. They'll get their equipment Monday, a physical checkup and step on the scales for trainer Gordie Marchant, who arrived in town this week. Marchant, trainer for Calgary's hockey and football Stampede for four years, will know most of his charges well. He held the same position at Denver last season.

Surveying his club's prospects left Houle more than a bit optimistic.

He rated Hargreaves, a 21-year-old, 175-pound centre who won all-star honors in the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League last season with a 45-75 scoring mark, as the likely WHL rookie of the season and gave Winfield, who played for Charlotte of the Eastern Hockey League, a chance to beat out a veteran defenceman.

"We are pretty well set," Houle said. "We know we are going to have the defence and all we need up front for an outstanding club is another centre and a rightwinger, and we are working on that."

Possibilities include Andy Heberton, ex-Cougar favorite, and Ed Litzenberger, long-time NHL player.

Heberton is owned by Portland Buckaroos but the possibility of a deal exists. Litzenberger faces tough competition in his attempt to stay with Toronto and is a distinct possibility for Victoria.

Four Are Ready, Two Will Be Called

Als Lure Don Clark Eskimos Lay in Wait

Montreal Alouettes, desperate for offensive help, have talked Don Clark out of retirement and the former great running halfback will join the club today or tomorrow, United Press International claimed Thursday.

Clark, 28, retired to a job in Akron, Ohio, following the 1963 season, during which he suffered a serious knee injury, and previous efforts to talk him into reporting failed. But the possible loss of halfback George Dixon and the fact that Alouettes have scored only one point in their last two games and have zone 10 quarters without a touchdown caused the Montreal club to renew negotiations. It is reported that Clark will get a $12,000 contract plus the guarantee of a job, probably in coaching in the Montreal area.

Tonight's game is being televised only on the Eastern (TV) network and is not available in Victoria.

A former All-American at University of Ohio and a first-round draft choice of the Chicago Bears before joining the Alouettes, Clark spent much of his five Canadian seasons sidelined with injuries but when he was healthy, he and Dixon formed the greatest running combination in Canadian football.

Clark's best year was in 1961, when he gained 1,143 yards. In his last two seasons, he averaged seven and six yards per carry. If he can regain his old form, he should make it easier for Dixon, who has gained less than 300 yards in five games and hardly anything in his last two.

However, Clark and, possibly Dixon, will not play tonight when the Alouettes try to end a three-game losing streak at home against Edmonton Eskimos, who have won one in a row.

COULD BE TOUGH It may not be easy. Much improved in their upset of Ottawa last week, the Eskimos will have three well-rated newcomers in action for the first time tonight.

Quarterback John Anabro and guard Jim Higgins, late of Cleveland Browns, and halfback Larry Ferguson, late of Detroit Lions, are all expected to see action on a club which has 20 players it didn't have a year ago.

To make room for the three latest additions, the Eskimos have placed guard Clair Branch, tackle Ken Peterson and rookie quarterback Gary Hertzfeldt on the waiver list.

THEY KNOW Alouettes, four points ahead of Toronto Argonauts, are fully aware that defeat could not help end any championship hopes but could be a morale-breaker which might endanger their playoff hopes.

They have been grilled in twice-daily, two-hour workouts in an effort to instill some new drive.

Without Dixon, likely out with a pulled hamstring muscle, and with 32-1 and 32-0 defeats in their last two games to haunt them, they can hardly afford to be confident.

"We've got to win this one," coach Jim Trimble proclaimed fearfully. "The Eskimos will be tougher now that they have won one."

The Eskimos, believe it or not, can take over fourth place with a win.

Field Hockey Opens Season On Saturday

The Vancouver Island women's field hockey season begins Saturday at 2 p.m. at Lansdowne Junior High School with an eight-team tournament.

Both novice and experienced players are still welcome and may register by either attending Saturday's tournament or phoning Mrs. Hall at EV 6-6294 or Mrs. Jones at GP 9-2130. Players must be over 14 years of age.

Umpires, coaches and selectors are also needed.

President of the Vancouver Island association this year is Mrs. Pat Clarke of Mill Bay with vice-president Mrs. Vivian Wilkinson of Victoria.

Shirley Set To Defend Club Honors

Mrs. Shirley Nayamith, the defending champion, leads a field of 36 golfers into the Gorge Vale Golf Club women's championship Sunday.

Starting times: 11 a.m.—A. Nayamith, N. Spindler, G. Pendergast, J. Doherty, E. Wawona, N. MacMillan, M. Fry, I. Fletcher, M. Chisholm, T. Pantalone, B. Patterson, L. Robertson, M. Roberts, D. Desha, E. Carroll, V. Sacher, A. Dye, M. Crawley. Not entries will be accepted.

It's getting time to plan for world series and baseball commissioner Ford Frick, on left had four hopeful club officials in his New York offices yesterday to talk it over. With Frick, from left, are George Harrison of Philadelphia Phillies, Ralph Houk of New York Yankees, Leland McPhail of Baltimore Orioles and Ed Short of Chicago White Sox. Two of quartet, three if Phillies should assemble and leave healthy lead, will do preliminary work in vain. (AP)

Mantle to Shift To New Position

DETROIT (AP)—New York Yankee manager Yogi Berra said Thursday that Mickey Mantle is through as a centre fielder because of his bad leg.

Berra said his star outfielder will finish the season in either right or left field, depending on the park. Roger Maris, New York's regular right fielder, will handle centre.

Maris played centre in Thursday's 5-2 victory over Detroit Tigers and Mantle was in left.

Berra said he had discussed the move with both players and both agreed to it.

Mantle suffered his first serious knee injury playing right field in the 1961 World Series against New York Giants when he stepped on a drainage cap and wrenched his left knee. He has had a succession of leg injuries since.

Racquet Club Event Draws Top Players

One of the largest and strongest fields ever to compete in the 18-year history of the Pacific Northwest Invitational Men's Doubles Tournament will line up for competition Saturday and Sunday at the Victoria Racquet Club.

Rated as the pair to beat is the combination of Bill Quillian and Jack Love, winners in 1961 and 1962. Other dangerous American pairings are Dave Leaver and Jim Aikens and Doyle Perkins and Righty Edson of Seattle and the hard-hitting combination of Don Love of Eugene, Ore. and Emery Neale of Portland.

The Americans may find the strongest Canadian opposition yet. Reider Getz, Davis Cup star from Vancouver's Jericho Club will be paired with left-hander, Bill Ledingham.

Don McCormick, top Canadian junior, is partnered with 14-year-old Roger Skillings. Canadian, Pacific northwest and B.C. champion in his age group, Ted Smythe and Ray Aldinger are another promising Racquet Club entry. Oak Bay club will send Ron Mitchell and Ian McLeod. Vince Clarkson and Howie Troby, Ron Karandinos and Warren Cameron and Lyn Norbury and Alan Wright.

All matches will be best-of-three sets with the public invited to attend. The final will be played at approximately 2 p.m. Sunday. There is no admission charge.

Seattle Hopes Bright

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—It is becoming more apparent with each day that the Cleveland Indians' once-fabulous baseball franchise will be located in Seattle, Wash., next year.

Owners of the Indians don't say they are moving the team, but they aren't saying they are staying in Cleveland either.

HE'S THINKING

Gabe Paul, president of the club and largest stockholder, said Thursday he hadn't made up his mind but hoped to bring the situation to a head at a board of directors meeting late this month.

"Frankly," said Gabe, "we will sit down and see if the owners are willing to pour more money into another season in Cleveland," he said.

Without saying so, he gave a strong indication that he was at last ready to move after several losing years in Cleveland.

The feeling is the Indians will go because it is no longer possible for Paul to take a financial beating and because he finally has become convinced he is not going to bring back the fans.

HUGE DROP
Cleveland fans became disenchanted with their team soon after the 1954 pennant-winning year. The attendance, which had been 1,335,472 in 1954, slumped steadily and hit an 18-year low of 562,597 in 1963.

The Indians' home attendance is averaging slightly better this year. A total of 560,988 fans have attended Cleveland home games through Wednesday, Sept. 9. The club set a season record of 2,629,627 in 1949.

Gabe, who rose from batboy to club president, owns 20 per cent of the stock and controls another 10 per cent. He insists he will not sell and scoffs at the idea he will have opposition from other stockholders once he makes up his mind to move.

HIS DECISION
"They have assured me they will abide by my decision," he said matter-of-factly.

"The trouble is I'm finding it difficult to come to a decision. An unofficial poll of American League club owners indicated he will get unanimous support if and when he asks for permission to move the Indians franchise."

TICKET CAMPAIGN
Paul is reported to have telephoned Seattle often to see how the ticket campaign—$8,000 by Oct. 1—there is progressing and it's said that there is a fat television-radio contract awaiting the move.

The Indians would play in an enlarged Sick's Stadium for five years, would then get a new stadium upon signing of a 25-year lease.

At the same time, it is expected that if the Indians move Cincinnati Reds will bring National League baseball to Cincinnati.

Pistol Meet On Sunday

Annual pistol meet of the Pacific Coast Rifle Association will be held at the Victoria city police range off Highland Road Sunday. The day's program will be comprised of four-man teams, inter-ship competitions.

Stanley Cup-Delayed Match Opens District Soccer Play

By ROBIN JEFFREY

Brodies Bakery and Victoria Wests will try to settle a soccer saw-off that's lasted four months at Royal Athletic Park Saturday afternoon. And the whole problem resulted from a hockey game.

In April, Brodies and Wests met in the final of the Victoria and District Soccer League's Price Cup. It was the last game of the season and the clubs were supposed to play to a finish.

But after one period of overtime left them still tied at 1-1, the teams decided to share the cup and go home to watch the final game of the Stanley Cup playoffs on TV.

Since then, soccer fans have been debating the merits of the two teams. Saturday's contest, which marks the opening of the Victoria and District Soccer League season, should settle something.

MANY CHANGES
Both teams, however, have undergone considerable change in personnel.

West's coach, Frank Greal, who stepped up to Victoria United of the Pacific Coast Soccer League this season, has been replaced by Tommy Druce.

West's have also lost Jürgen Stosel and Gano Bressan, who have returned to their old club, Kickers.

ADD JUNIOR STARS
But Wests have added two top juniors in Mike Graas and George Fuller. Veteran goalkeeper Al Davies has joined the club as insurance for regular Dave Linwin, and Nirmal Dillon will join brother Ranjit on the forward line.

Brodies, however, seem to have lost more than they've gained. Former English professional Geoff Hill is apparently through with soccer and Bill and Roy Hamilton have been working out with Victoria United.

IT ADDS UP
All-star wing half John Craig has moved to Vancouver and goalie Bob Moore will play with Gorge this season.

Red Quinn Suggests

Willie Too Small to Block

OTTAWA (CP)—Red O'Quinn, general manager of the Ottawa Rough Riders, suggested Thursday that coach Dave Skrien's injured in Tuesday's Riders-Lions game by "one of the wildest right-hand haymakers I've ever seen."

A film of the game showed defensive-end John Kershner made contact with Fleming.

O'Quinn's remarks came after he was told of Skrien's allegation that Fleming was injured in Tuesday's Riders-Lions game by "one of the wildest right-hand haymakers I've ever seen."

Gabe, who rose from batboy to club president, owns 20 per cent of the stock and controls another 10 per cent. He insists he will not sell and scoffs at the idea he will have opposition from other stockholders once he makes up his mind to move.

HIS DECISION
"They have assured me they will abide by my decision," he said matter-of-factly.

"The trouble is I'm finding it difficult to come to a decision. An unofficial poll of American League club owners indicated he will get unanimous support if and when he asks for permission to move the Indians franchise."

TICKET CAMPAIGN
Paul is reported to have telephoned Seattle often to see how the ticket campaign—$8,000 by Oct. 1—there is progressing and it's said that there is a fat television-radio contract awaiting the move.

The Indians would play in an enlarged Sick's Stadium for five years, would then get a new stadium upon signing of a 25-year lease.

At the same time, it is expected that if the Indians move Cincinnati Reds will bring National League baseball to Cincinnati.

Pistol Meet On Sunday
Annual pistol meet of the Pacific Coast Rifle Association will be held at the Victoria city police range off Highland Road Sunday. The day's program will be comprised of four-man teams, inter-ship competitions.

Jim Needs Big Stick To Ward Off Critics
MONTREAL (UPI)—Jim (Big Stick) Trimble seldom is at loss for a few hundred words when asked to comment on any phase of his football coaching operations.

The onetime "boy wonder" coach of the Philadelphia Eagles often has been described as Canada's most colorful football personality. But football's No. 1 pitchman is clearly on the spot, and it will be interesting to see if Big Jim can stickhandle his way out of what appears to be his stickiest dilemma.

Trimble's castles in the sky suddenly have begun to crumble after his low-rated Alouettes surprised even their most ardent supporters by winning their first three starts. His Als reverted to type just as suddenly and lost their next two games in humiliating fashion.

INDICATOR?
Adding insult to injury, Trimble's most knowledgeable lieutenant, Leo Cahill, walked out for what he termed "personal reasons."

But Trimble did offer a couple of comments that may lend some insight into the obvious dissension that exists within the ranks of the larks. Trimble, who seldom hesitates to remind all subordinates that "there's only one big stick around here and that's me," assumed complete blame for the team's shortcomings.

"It's not his (Cahill's) fault," big Jim admitted. I know damn well it's my fault. I'll take all the blame for the offense and defense. I'm pretty hard-headed and not always right."

HARD TO EXPLAIN
For all his gibes, Trimble failed to explain satisfactorily such morale-upsetting moves as cutting all-stars Ed Nickla and Milt Crain. A few short months ago Trimble was comparing Nickla with Hamilton's John Barrow. Suddenly he was "too slow" though game films indicated otherwise, according to those who know.

In Nickla's case, the feeling persists that Trimble resented Nickla's stature among his fellow players. The fact he was drawing a salary of $14,000 didn't help Nickla's case.

The "Big Stick" next decided he didn't need Crain. When he called the former Mississippi All-American in to present him with film evidence to justify his dismissal, Trimble was more than slightly annoyed when movies failed to support his contention.

"I've got younger, faster and hungrier kids to take their place," Trimble boasted.

CONFUSING
Other Trimbleisms have left Alouette supporters just as confused.

Though he has indicated a dislike for high-salaried players, Trimble personally recommended that quarterback Vernon Cole be given an increase in salary after the Als lost 32-1 to Hamilton and 32-9 to Saskatchewan.

LOCKED-IN
Describing "locked-in" contracts as a coach's worst curse, he signed Billy Roy to a three-year contract earlier this week.

PLANNING
Planning the Alouettes' two losses on poor player attitude, he confessed to Wednesday's weekly football luncheon crowd that he had no "feasible excuse" for not imparting the necessary leadership and incentive.

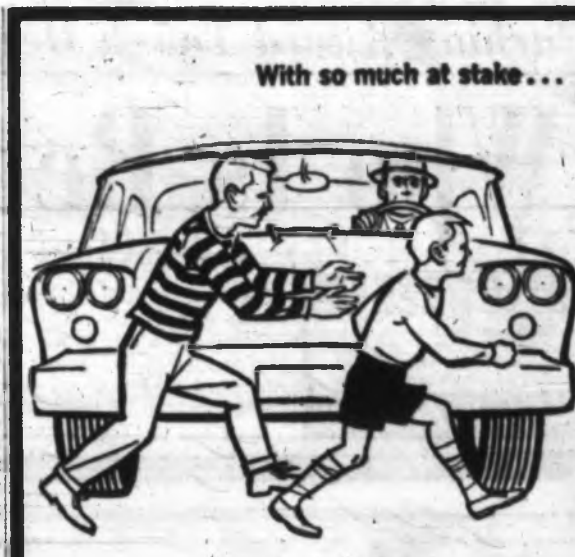

Jim Trimble remains one of the game's most humorous spellbinders. But as he often reminds his own players, "football is still a game of blocking and tackling."

Curling Meeting
Annual meeting of the Royal Canadian Navy Curling Club will be held at the Esquimalt Sports Centre tonight at 8 to elect the executive and lay plans for the coming season.

Salmon Hunt For Weekend
The James Bay Anglers Association holds a salmon derby this weekend beginning at 4:30 this afternoon and finishing Sunday at 2 p.m.

There are first, second and third prizes in both men's and women's divisions, as well as hidden weight awards.

Weight-in station is at the James Bay boat ramp.

Who Is Better, Koufax or Chance?

CALLOUSES

To relieve calluses, burning, tenderness on bottom of feet and remove calluses—ask for these amazing, cushioning pads.

Dr. Scholl's Zino pads

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sandy Koufax or Dean Chance?

No matter which of the two Los Angeles aces you pick as pitcher of the year, you're in trouble.

Each has his own legion of loud supporters, who claim their man is the only logical choice for the Cy Young Award, annually bestowed on the outstanding major league pitcher of the year.

The matter comes to a head now because the Baseball Writers' Association of America, which conducts the voting for the award, has put the ballots in the mail.

BOTH DESERVING

Too bad it's impossible to vote a split ticket, but either Chance or Koufax is going to win the award and making a choice between them is akin to picking out the greenest blade of grass. Sandy won the award last year, along with practically everything else. He's at somewhat of a disadvantage this time though because elbow trouble has sidelined him for the final month.

My particular vote went to Chance and promptly drew a strong objection from Sandy's Dodger teammate, Ron Perranoski.

"I admit I've never seen Chance pitch for the Angels," Perranoski declared, "but even so, there's no doubt in my mind at all that Koufax is the best pitcher in baseball today. I honestly think he should get the award again."

REBUTTAL

Fair enough, but now listen to Angel manager Bill Rigney. "If there's a better pitcher around than Chance, I haven't seen him," says Rigney. "I'm not taking anything away from Koufax, but I'd have to vote for Chance."

The overall records of the two men offer little help. Koufax has pitched 223 innings, struck out 223 batters and has an earned-run average of 1.74 while compiling his 19-5 won-lost showing. Chance has pitched 237 innings, struck out 177 and has an earned-run average of 1.55. And Chance leads in shutouts, 9-7.

"No one in the world can convince me Koufax wasn't just as good a pitcher this year as he was last," Perranoski continued. "He was fooling around a little with another pitch this year. I think it was a fork ball or something."

"We kidded him about it. We told him if he came up with another pitch, they'd have to ship him to a higher league."

Giving chance supporters equal time, Angel pitching coach Marv Grissom calls the lanky 23-year fastballer "the best right-handed pitcher I've ever seen."

Becker concedes Chance is everything Grissom says he is, but he wonders about Marv's description of his being the finest right-hander he has ever seen.

"There was a pretty fair right-hander by the name of Bob Feller a few years back," Becker said. "I wonder if Grissom ever saw him?"

Gentlemen, gentlemen, let's not fight about this.

Starting Gun Hits Yachter

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Skipper Tony Green teased himself for the start of the yacht race.

The starter's cannon went off and an inter-city Geary 18 class yacht race between Prince George and Quesnel started—all except Green.

He was hit in the leg by the cannon wadding.

After a quick patch-up he started the race, finishing 11th in the over-all standings.

Toronto Makes New Highs

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market provided a last-minute spurt. The 80-stock industrial index closed at 101.04, a 1964 high, ahead 62. The 114-stock composite index closed at 150.29, ahead 57 to a new high.

Liquors were also strong with Corby's A up 1/4 to 20, Walker-Gooderham 1/4 to 26 1/2 and Distillers Seagrams a point to 62 1/2. Leitch and Highland - Bell sparked speculators with gains of 20 cents each to $4.55 and $7.10 respectively.

Senior base metals were exceptionally strong. Inco and Falconbridge advanced a point each, while Hudson Bay gained 1/4.

MONTREAL (CP)—Utilities led stocks to trade narrowly higher. CPR advanced 1/4 to 51 1/2 and Trans-Mountain Pipe Line 1/4 to 20 1/2.

Senior base metals were up fractionally. Hollinger gained 1/4 to 26 1/2, International Nickel 1/4 to 26 1/2 and Noranda 1/4 to 27. Hudson Bay Mining slipped a point to 71 and Consolidated Mining and Smelting 1/4 to 38.

Senior oils were mixed. Texaco added 1/4 to 60 1/2 and Imperial 1/4 to 35 1/2 and Shell 1/4 to 39.

Primary metals were up. Canadian Iron Foundry and Dofasco added 1/4 each to 39 1/2 and 24 1/2 and Aluminum 1/4 to 31 1/2. Stelco eased 1/4 to 25 1/2.

Trade and finance issues were up a little. Hudson's Bay Co. gained 1/4, Traders Finance A 1/4 to 14 and Steinberg's A 1/4 to 31 1/2. Dominion Stores slipped 1/4 to 22 1/2.

VANCOUVER—Two mining issues alone were responsible for more than half the day's volume of 1,496,466 shares. Earle rose nine cents to 70 on 386,350 shares and Toronto jumped 14 cents to 73 on 420,980 shares. Otherwise mixed.

River Interest Yield: $27,000,000

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

B.C. Hydro and Power Authority will earn about $27,000,000 in interest alone over the next four years, as a result of loans it has made this week on its Columbia Treaty money.

In addition, the Hydro Authority is saving interest on $53,000,000 by the repayment of short-term loans in New York.

Overall, the power authority will receive an average of 5.36 per cent on its investments which include $100,000,000 to the Province of Quebec; $70,000,000 to the Bank of Montreal and $50,000,000 to Kinross Mortgage Corporation.

As the average term of the loans is under three years, the

Says Survey

Prospects For Pulp Improving

TORONTO (CP)—A detailed examination of Canada's pulp and paper industry by a private investment company indicates companies operating on the West Coast have the best long-term growth potential.

The 51-page survey, prepared by R. A. Daly and Co., says the industry has clearly emerged from the doldrums that beset it in the middle 1950s.

"Possible shortages of market and kraft pulp are looming in North America, Japan and even in Europe. Prices have firmed and today the industry is operating in most sectors at close to capacity.

RECORD EARNINGS

"Canadian companies are benefitting greatly from the more realistic dollar-exchange rate and increased sales as well as possible price increases will probably result in record earnings this year."

The study notes there are 115 mills in Canada east of the Rockies, but only 35 per cent of Canada's forest reserves are located there.

LARGER TREES

The West Coast, with 65 per cent of the reserves, has only 14 mills.

The West Coast operations have the advantage of larger trees, no season shipping problems and a wider market range offered by the opportunity to ship by sea, where distance is not a serious cost factor, the study says.

In the East, pulp and paper products often had to be moved overland long distances to reach shipping sites, as well as being limited by winter freeze-ups.

The long-term prospects for sale of newsprint and other pulp and lumber products, indicate steady improvement, it says.

OLD FACILITIES

But eastern mills, saddled with old substandard pulp facilities, would have to invest substantial capital in new equipment to meet the increasing demand for higher quality kraft pulp.

Western mills, having entered the market pulp field recently, generally had modern facilities capable of turning out material currently in demand.

The study makes special note of the growth in demand for western plywood and says it should develop substantial world markets because of its low cost.

President Johnson Invited

'Do Drop In on Us for a Nice Cup of Tea!'

An invitation has been sent to President Lyndon Johnson to make a "tea stop" in Victoria next week.

The president will be attending border ceremonies near Blaine marking the U.S. payment of $775,000,000 to B.C. for downstream benefits on the Columbia River.

Also present will be Prime Minister Pearson and Premier Bennett.

"I am sure the people of Victoria would be delighted to welcome the president," said acting-mayor Millard Mooney Thursday.

The telegram of invitation, which was addressed to the White House, Washington, mentioned the Blaine ceremony in its preamble then extended a cordial invitation to the president "to honor the capital city with a visit."

"We have pleasant recollections of the last visit of a United States president, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, in 1957 and I am sure that all our people would be delighted to receive you and extend you a hearty welcome," the message concludes.

Ald. Mooney suggested that a fishing trip might be arranged for the president as a relief and rest from his heavy schedule. It was a short trip and might find favor with the chief executive.

New Gold for Sourdoughs

Call of the North Luring Tourists

By GARY OAKES

The Yukon gold rush is on again—but the "prospectors" are bringing their own gold this time.

Now the rush is prospecting tourists laden with money and eager to retrace the Trail of '98 into the Land of the Midnight Sun.

Yukon pioneers were talking about this as they gathered Thursday for the 33rd International Sourdough Reunion in the Empress.

CALLING BACK And they also spoke of the lure of the North which is constantly calling them back to the northern lights.

"There's something that always draws you back," says 65-year-old Albert C. Hahn who "did very well" on the Trail of '98 and now lives in Seattle.

"The old-timers don't want to prospect any more," Mr. Hahn explains. "They simply want to see what they went through the first time."

And Tom Tellefsen, a 70-year-old Vancouverite who spent six years in the Yukon at the turn of the century, feels the same.

"Once you've been there, the feeling of returning never leaves you," explains Mr. Tellefsen, a prospector whose luck was "up and down... mostly down."

Yukon Bud Fisher, a 64-year-old bearded prospector who traps thousands of miles throughout Canada and the U.S. to promote tourism on behalf of the Yukon government, is also attending the convention as a representative of the Yukon Order of Pioneers.

KEY TO GROWTH

Yukon Bud, who was born in the U.S. and has spent 35 years in the north, sees the tourist rush as the key to growth and development of the Yukon.

"Tourism is probably the Yukon's wealthiest industry," says Bud, "and it's growing more each year."

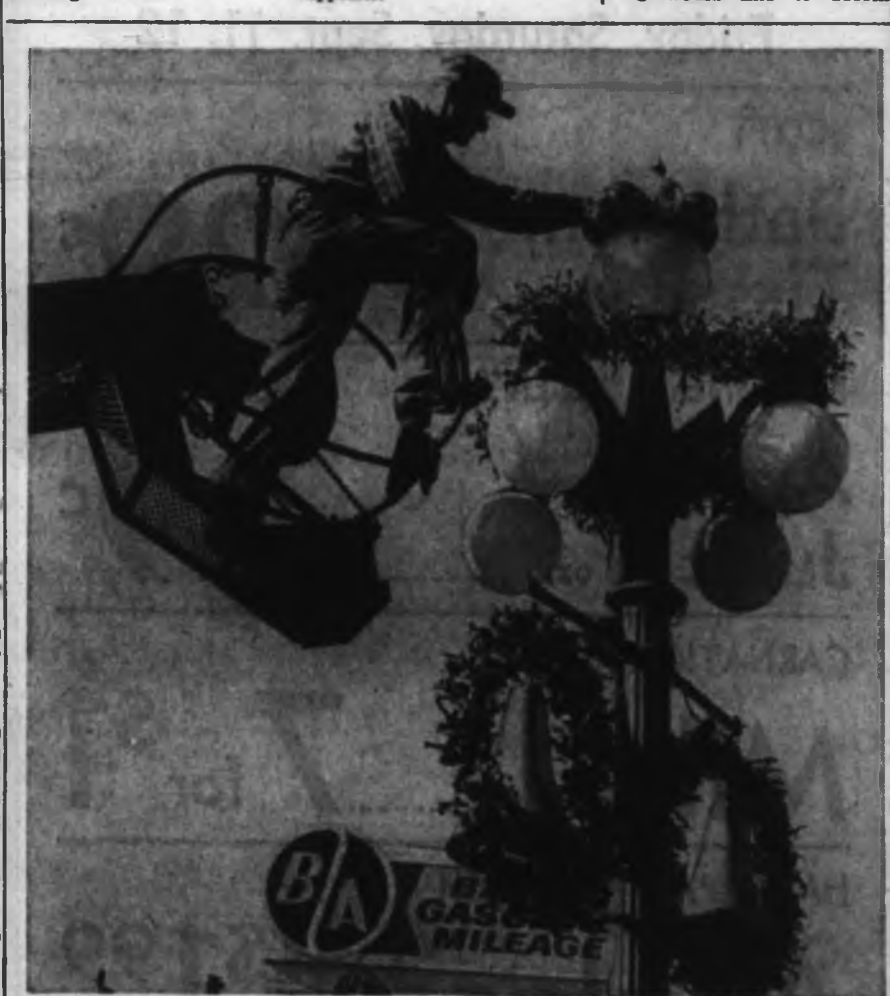

More than 200 sourdoughs—those who have wintered through the freeze-up and break-up of the Yukon River—are meeting at the three-day convention which ends Saturday night.

Election of officers and other business highlights today's activities.

Air Cadets Back Today

Kinmen Air Cadet Corps will resume its activities at 8 p.m. today in the Begg Building, corner of Yates and Quadra.

Youngsters over 14 years old or in Grade 9, interested in the corps, are asked to attend the meeting.

Liquor Store Protest

Greater Victoria school board decided at a special meeting Thursday to protest to Attorney-General Bonner against possible construction of a new liquor store opposite a junior secondary school site.

John Porteous, acting chairman of the board, pointed out that on Wednesday Mr. Bonner said he believed that the new liquor store would be built at Gordon and Reynolds.

RIGHT OFFENSE

Mr. Porteous went on to say that this is right opposite the site of the $700,000, 17-room Reynolds Road Junior High School.

Trustees said they could not understand how the government that approved construction of the school would also approve construction of a liquor store opposite.

Cappy Unhappy Britons Know Little of B.C.

By A. H. MURPHY

Victoria may be a little bit of "olde England" but there are a lot of people over there who never heard of this city—or of British Columbia.

It may come as a shock but Capt. D. F. Proudfoot is here to say that even in Scotland there are large areas of ignorance about this part of the world.

DID HIS BEST

The dapper captain who served two terms as a Liberal MLA for Victoria and one term as city alderman has been doing his best over the past five years to rectify this unhappy situation.

He returned recently from Scotland.

"I have carried the torch for British Columbia into 181 lecture halls in England, Ireland and Scotland and I am continually appalled at the ignorance of British Columbia that I find," says Capt. Proudfoot.

PRIVATE BANKS

"And this ignorance is not confined to uneducated people but extends to persons in high places."

"They don't know the first thing about us," the captain said. One highly placed politician even asked him if there are private banks in Canada.

With "Cappy" is Mrs. Proudfoot, the prominent B.C. businesswoman he married after a whirlwind courtship during a visit to Scotland in 1959.

WANTS ACTION

At present occupying a flat in the city, Capt. Proudfoot says that he would like to stay in Victoria for a time. He has been absent, except for flying visits, for five years.

"I would like to become active in local affairs again—perhaps even run for city council. I think Victoria is a grand city and I have so many friends here," says the former alderman.

HIS THEME

Asked if he would consider running for the legislature, he retorted:

"It doesn't look very good right now for a staunch Liberal, does it?"

"Put your money into Canada and particularly British Columbia."

This, said Capt. Proudfoot, is the theme he constantly drives home when he talks to English and Scottish industrialists.

GROWTH AHEAD

"I tell them that this country will have 50,000,000 people by the end of the century and that in B.C. there will be 7,500,000."

"Canada will be a world force to be reckoned with—and ignore it at your peril."

'EVEN TO OTTAWA'

But Capt. Proudfoot can't keep away from the distressing fact that we are so little known in the British Isles.

"Although," he says, "I suppose we can hardly expect them to know us there when we are a complete mystery even to Ottawa."

Housing Plan Opposed

The Greater Victoria Branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada Thursday decided to oppose a proposed 411-acre North Saanich housing development.

Donald Mathison, a director of the 50-member group, told the Colonist he will present a brief opposing the development of the area as proposed by Dean Estates.

The decision came during a meeting of the group's executive Thursday night. Most of the members of the branch are architects, planners, local government officials and chamber of commerce and service club representatives, said Mr. Mathison.

URBAN SPRAWL

The brief, to be presented at a hearing Sept. 15, will object to the development on the grounds it will "aggravate urban sprawl" and boost taxes to farmers in the area.

"We are wondering if this isn't the developers' second choice to grab cheap land. And we wonder why they have to open up this area when there is still a lot of property left in the Uplands that is already served by utilities," said Mr. Mathison.

Fishermen Charge:

U.S. Ships Give Best Protection

By DON GAIN

The U.S. Coast Guard provides more protection for Canadian west coast fishermen than Canada does, according to two Victoria-based fishermen.

"We're not criticizing department of transport personnel," said Dick Williams, Pacific Trollers Association president. "It's the equipment they have to work with."

He said two 35-foot lifeboats at Tofino and Bamfield "are not satisfactory at all."

"We would be much further ahead if we had one boat three times as large stationed in the fishing grounds at all times," he said.

City Gets Cheque For $407

A cheque for $407 was turned over to the city of Victoria Thursday by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Included was a report which showed that during the month of August 147 complaints were received, 41 dogs impounded, 21 claimed, four destroyed and 57 cats taken into custody.

The society has an agreement with the city whereby a portion of fees received are turned over to Victoria.

Christmas Standard On Trial

What's this? Christmas decorating 104 days early? Not really. It's a Chamber of Commerce trial dress-up of a single lamp standard at Douglas and Yates. Like it? Either way, tell the chamber. Price tag of the plastic and tinsel from Texas is about $110 a pole to be paid mostly by merchants.—(Ian McKain)

Cast Chosen For Harvey

Casting is complete for the St. Matthias' Little Theatre Society's fall production, to open Oct. 19.

Appearing in the comedy Harvey will be Margaret Bedford, Marilyn Norman, Gerdum Lausen, Doris Exton, Opal Campbell, Ken Bostock, Bill Howard, Stan Bowles, Birta Peterson, Basil Isigomis and Ian McIntyre.

Phyllis Dalmage will direct the play which is scheduled to run for one week.

Reaction 'Terrific' Mooney Reports

Reaction to the recent bombshell announcement that he will run for reeve of Saanich has been "absolutely terrific," according to Victoria Ald. Millard Mooney.

Ald. Mooney, who is acting mayor in the absence of Mayor R. B. Wilson, said he has been wished good luck everywhere he goes.

"People tell me that it is a wonderful idea for me to run on Oct. 24," he says. "They feel that my election as reeve would be of great benefit to both municipalities."

Low School Bids Please Trustees

Patterson Construction was lowest of four bidders for construction of four new classrooms at Shelbourne Elementary School, bidding nearly 10 per cent below the estimated cost.

LOW BID

Patterson Construction's winning bid was $86,205.

Other bids were H. E. Fowler & Sons, $97,305; Burns & Dutton, $103,590; G. H. Wheaton, $105,364.

Trustees were particularly pleased with bids after their experience with the Frank Hobbs school addition, which saw bids up to 35 per cent more than estimates.

Benches Installed

Public Works Minister W. M. Chant said Thursday the government has installed three benches and will soon add a fourth to the landscaped square at the rear of the Victoria law courts.

"They have been put there mainly for the elderly folk who may want to sit and rest a while in pleasant surroundings," the minister said.

Diced oranges and fresh pears are combined in creamy filling in pear-orange shortcake. Sliced pears form pinwheel topping design, may be sprinkled with cinnamon.

New Taste Treat In Pear Shortcake

By SUSAN DELIGHT

Shortcake need not be just strawberry or peach.

A traditional shortcake is made with a very short baking powder-biscuit dough typically cooked in a large cake and served hot after being split, buttered and spread with sweetened fruit or berries.

A real shortcake taste treat combines Bartlett pears and diced oranges in a whipped cream filling.

PEAR-ORANGE SHORTCAKE

Three fresh Bartlett pears; 3 oranges; 1 tbsp. lemon juice; 1/2 cup sugar; 4 tps. cornstarch; 1/2 tsp. cinnamon; 1/2 tsp.

salt; 1/2 cup butter or margarine; 2 cups biscuit mix; 1/2 cup milk; 1 cup whipping cream.

Pare, halve, core and dice two pears. Pare, section and dice oranges; add lemon juice. Grate one teaspoon rind from remaining orange; squeeze juice, adding water if necessary to make one-half cup liquid. Mix three tablespoons sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon and salt. Blend in orange juice and grated rind; cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Cool slightly and pour over diced fruits; chill. Cut butter into biscuit mix with pastry blender. Add remaining sugar and milk and stir to form dough; knead lightly on floured board. Divide in half and roll each half to fit a nine-inch pie plate; prick with fork. Bake in 425-degree (hot) oven 10 to 12 minutes. Cool. Whip cream. Fold fruit mixture into cream. Fill shortcake shells with cream mixture; place one on top of the other to make a double-layer shortcake.

Pare, halve, core and slice remaining pear; arrange slices on top of shortcake. Sprinkle with additional cinnamon if desired. Makes eight servings.

Any berries can be substituted for strawberries in the following recipe.

STRAWBERRY-PINEAPPLE SHORTCAKE

Two cups all-purpose flour; 4 tps. baking powder; 1/2 tsp. salt; 1 tbsp. sugar; 4 tps. butter; 1/2 cup milk, approximately; melted butter; 1 quart fresh or frozen strawberries; 1 small can crushed pineapple; whipping cream.

Sift flour with baking powder, salt and sugar. Work in four tablespoons butter with fingers or a blending fork. Stir in milk, a small amount at a time, until mixture holds together but is still soft. Turn out on floured board and divide in two parts. Roll out each part to a 10-inch circle. Place these circles in two nine-inch round tins. Bake 12 minutes at 425 degrees. Brush top of each cake with melted butter. Crush strawberries slightly and, if not already sweetened, sweeten to taste. Add drained pineapple. Warm slightly. Put half of fruit mixture on one cake and top with the other. Spread remainder on second cake. Top with sweetened whipped cream or topping.

Nuts Add Own Flavor

By HELEN GAGEN
(TNS)

If a good cook could have only one kind of nuts in the house, there's more than an even chance that her choice would fall on almonds.

Blanched or unblanched, whole or sliced or chopped, they add uniquely delicious flavor and texture without detracting from the flavor of other foods.

And toasted!
Nowadays you can buy almonds sliced, chopped and silvered as well as whole or in their shells. I've even seen them blanched, chopped and tinted for certain special effects.

ALMOND CHICKEN

Two whole chicken breasts (about 8 oz. each), 1/2 cup salad oil, 1/2 cup whole blanched almonds, 1/2 cup water, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger, 1/2 lb. fresh Chinese pea pods (if available—or 1/2 package (12 oz.) frozen peas.

Remove bone and skin from chicken breasts. Cut meat in cubes.

Heat oil in frying pan; add chicken and cook 2 or 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Add almonds and stir and cook 3 minutes.

Reserve 1 tablespoon of the cold water and blend it smoothly into the cornstarch; add soy sauce, monosodium glutamate and ginger. Add to chicken and stir in rest of water. Stir and cook until mixture thickens and boils.

Add pea pods. Cover, bring to boil and boil just 1 minute. With frozen peas, use 1/2 of a 12-oz. package and simmer 3 or 4 minutes. Serve at once, with fluffy rice. Makes 4 or 5 servings. (A little salt or seasoned salt may be added.)

ALMOND FRIED SHRIMP

One pound large uncooked shrimp, 2 eggs, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup finely silvered or chopped almonds, salad oil, hot mustard, ketchup or chili sauce.

Shell and devein shrimp, leaving tails intact; dry well.

Beat eggs slightly. Mix in flour and salt and beat smooth with rotary beater. Dip shrimp in egg batter, drain slightly, then dip in almonds. Fry shrimp a few at a time in hot oil at 380 degrees (hot enough to brown a bread cube in 60 seconds). May be done in frying pan. Allow 1 1/2 to 2 minutes each side, until golden.

Drain on paper towels. Serve hot, with hot mustard and ketchup. Makes 4 or 5 servings as entree, 8 or 10 as appetizer.

If more convenient, use 1 pound (about 50) frozen large shrimp. Rinse off any ice crystals, dry well on absorbent paper and allow 4 or 5 minutes of cooking on each side. Fry while still frozen.

Lunchtime Treat

Try Cheese Barbecue Sandwiches for a substantial lunchtime summer treat that's got plenty of peppery flavor. Combine 1 1/2 cups shredded cheddar cheese (preferably sharp or "old") with 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1/4 cup minced onion, 2 chopped hard-cooked eggs, 3 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 3 tablespoons ketchup, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon melted margarine. Spread the cheese mixture on 6 toast slices using about 1/4 cup of the mixture for each. Broil 5 to 7 inches from heat, 3 to 4 minutes or until cheese is melted and browned. Serve immediately, open-faced or topped with more toast slices. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Wedding at Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Carol Ann Klint, gowned in white sheer over taffeta with full sweeping train, was a lovely bride at her marriage to Mr. Gary Edward McMillan in First United Church.

Rev. C. G. Ashdown performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Carl Klint and the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. McMillan.

Don Redman presided at the organ as the bride came up the aisle on the arm of her father. Her full-length gown featured an empire bodice, appliqued with misty French lace, and a full sweeping skirt. The train cascaded the back of the scalloped neckline and a shoulder-length veil was held by a crown of lace and seed pearls centred with a miniature bridal rose.

Her attendants were Mrs. Eva Bella, matron-of-honor; Miss Frieda Halt, Miss Kathy Kelbert and Mrs. J. Barker. Mrs. Bella was in yellow and the other attendants wore blue, their silk dresses embroidered at the waistlines and their accessories matching their frocks.

Mr. Tom McMillan supported the groom, while Mr. Peter Klint, Mr. Robert Conn and Mr. Wally Kelbert were ushers. The Smith Memorial Hall was decorated with yellow, blue Turner.

Victorians Attend Parksville Wedding

A number of Victorians traveled to Parksville recently to attend the wedding of Jean Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. King, of Errington, B.C., and Harold Franklin Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Williams, of Parksville.

Rev. Eric Blackstock officiated at the afternoon ceremony, at which the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her floor-length gown was of white peau de sole under bouffant nylon sheer, with a cathedral train. Bodice and skirt panels were appliqued with Alencon lace. Her shoulder veil of tulle was held in place by a pearl-trimmed lace coronet, and her bouquet was of tulle, roses and stephanotis. For her traditional something old, the bride wore a gold locket belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. L. Overy, of Victoria.

Miss Beryl Galland, of Victoria, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Valerie King, Errington, the bride's sister, and Miss Donna McMaster, the groom's cousin, from En-dako, B.C. Another cousin of the groom, Miss Gwen Williams, of Hilliers, was junior bridesmaid. They were dressed alike in pale-green peau de sole, with bell-shaped skirts, and all wore hula hula of tulle. They carried bouquets of bronze-toned chrysanthemums.

Mr. Ron Horsnell of Parksville was best man, and the groom's brother, Mr. Lyle Williams, ushered with Mr. Bill Baron of Wellington, B.C. Mr. Fred King of Port Alberni proposed the toast to his niece at a reception at Island Hall Playhouse following the ceremony.

As the couple left later on a wedding trip to Anacortes, the new Mrs. Williams wore a teal blue two-piece suit with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

The newlyweds plan to make their home at Combs, B.C. Victoria guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. G. Galland and Miss Beryl Galland; Mr. J. O. Nicholls, Mr. and Mrs. G. Nicholls, Mrs. Isabelle Williams and Brian, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams, Mr. and Mrs. W. Edgington, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. R. Jones and Shirley, Mrs. L. Overy, Mrs. Madeline de Leen-heer and D'Arcy.

Pictured following their wedding in Oak Bay United Church are C. Lorne Reay and his bride, the former Beverly McLaughlin, who plan to make their home in Red Deer, Alta. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. C. McLaughlin, Dufferin Avenue, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Reay of Red Deer.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 32-year-old bachelor who lives in an apartment building. I have avoided becoming friendly with my neighbors because the last building I lived in was swarming with single girls and I couldn't get rid of them.

Yesterday a school teacher who has the apartment next door stopped me in the corridor and said, "You are so tall and handsome. Would you mind helping me wash the three top windows in my apartment? I can't reach them."

I had never said more than "Good morning" to this woman and was dumb-founded. I recovered rapidly and told her I was sorry but I had burns in my shoulder.

The more I think of it the more I feel she had a lot of nerve to try to get me to do janitor work. What do you think? — NO ADONIS REALLY.

Dear Really: Get with it. The girl wasn't trying to get you to do janitor work. She wanted to get better acquainted. So—give her E for Effort and O for Originality — and don't be so rock-headed.

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to the stepmother who wanted to know what to do about her 17-year-old stepson was for the birds. The boy had a key to their home and brought girls over on weekends when his parents were out of the city.

You said the stepmother should tell her husband the house is half hers and that she should not tolerate such flagrant immorality. You further suggested she demand that the boy return the key and be told he can come over only when the parents are at home.

I say your advice is for the birds because I have a similar situation and my husband's attitude is as follows: "He is MY son and you have nothing to say about it. So keep your big mouth shut or you and I are going to have trouble."

And now that you have a realistic picture—the way it is in MOST second marriages which involve step-children—what do you suggest? — ALSO OVER-RULED

Dear Also: An over-ruled step-mother should then say: "You are right. The boy is yours. I have no right to open up my big mouth and fuss now on you will hear nothing from me on this subject. I apologize for trying to contribute a measure of decency and morality to the boy's upbringing. When he finds himself in deep trouble my conscience will be clear because I will know he is YOUR son and I had nothing to say about the way he was raised."

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter received some unusually expensive china as a wedding gift. The sender was a male member of our church. He enclosed his personal card. The man's wife had sent a cheap towel set from "Mr. and Mrs." two days earlier.

Yesterday we put all the gifts on display in our dining room.

NOVEL CANAPE
Patio entertaining is no chore with this savory sardine canape. Open and drain a can of Norway sardines. Mash the sardines and blend with a little horseradish and mayonnaise. Spread on toast strips or cocktail crackers and refrigerate until party time.

Several friends have commented on the elegant gift from "Mr. and Mrs." and the very simple gift from "Mr. and Mrs." Our daughter's fiancé and his parents feel we should send the china back to the gentleman and inform him that his wife sent a gift from both of them. Do you agree this should be done? — BRIDE'S MOTHER

Dear Mother: No. To return the gift would be an insult. It may well be that the man was unhappy when his wife told him she had sent a couple of towels so he decided to send a second gift. No explanations or apologies are needed.

Rings Restore Virtue

LONDON (AP)—A department store in Birmingham made honest women Thursday out of 20 of its half-clad dummies.

"We've put wedding rings on their fingers," said display manager Frank Smith.

"One critic wrote in and asked us if all our wax models were wearing jewelry, or ladies of easy virtue."

"We understood the point. It's not at all unreasonable, so from now on dummies to let us say, positions of delicacy — will wear wedding rings."

Smith said by "positions of delicacy" he meant wearing negligees or frilly underwear, or standing beside beds.

The first fall meeting of Sidney Business and Professional Women's Club was held Tuesday at the home of the recording secretary, Mrs. D. J. A. Milne, Lochside Drive. President, Mrs. Wm. Kynaston welcomed Mrs. P. Drummond back to the club. Mrs. Drummond has recently returned from an eight month world tour. Mrs. Milne introduced Mrs. A. W. Murphy of Bakerview Place as a guest and prospective member.

The year's budget and future activities were discussed at length. It was suggested by Mrs. Kynaston that one member each month study the "Statutes of B.C. of Particular Interest to Women" and be prepared to discuss points of interest at meetings.

'Disease' Man-Made

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I have an unusually large number of complaints this year concerning the rotting of tomatoes on the plants. The plants themselves have grown exceptionally well in most instances, making plenty of healthy foliage and a profusion of blossoms. The setting of the blossoms was good, with or without a hormone blossom-setting spray, and soon the plants were heavy with fruit.

About the time the first of the fruits were due to start ripening, though, trouble appeared. A tiny, greasy-looking spot appeared on the bottom of each fruit, and this rot spread gradually upward until the bottom half of each tomato was decayed and unusable.

tom or blossom end of the fruit, and strangely enough, it is not a blight or a disease. There is no bug, germ or disease spore involved; it is not infectious and cannot spread to other plants, even to other tomato plants, nor is there anything wrong with the health of the soil. Even the affected fruits are wholesome, and if the rotted portion is cut away, the remainder of the tomato can be eaten in perfect safety.

Blossom-end rot is a physiological disorder, or to put it another way, the plants have not been grown correctly; in a sense, it is a man-made trouble. The cause is a lack of sub-soil moisture, and it occurs most often in a season when there has been ample rain and soil moisture through the early summer.

supply of moisture for the deep roots. If you remember, the trick here is to dig a deep hole about 18 inches down, dump in a big wad of soggy wet newspaper, fill up the hole, then set out a tomato plant immediately above this buried sponge-like mass. Along with the wet newspaper stunt, I recommended that a thick mulch of straw, sawdust, shavings or lawn mowings be spread over the soil surface around each plant to insulate the rooting area and conserve the deep soil moisture.

I admit that it isn't very helpful to discuss these techniques at this late date, and I am doing so not in any "I told you so" spirit but to ram home a lesson for next year.

The disappointment on the part of these backyard gardeners was intense indeed—to grow such healthy-looking plants and such a wealth of green tomatoes, only to have them all rot on the vine, must have been disheartening in the extreme. These pathetic letters have been asking whether this blight is liable to spread to other kinds of plants, and whether the soil is infected to the point where tomatoes can never again be grown on that particular plot.

This is a well-known condition called blossom-end rot, because the symptoms appear first on the bot-

What happens is this: During the early summer, while moisture conditions are good, the plants thrive and make large, healthy leaves. Later in the year, when subsoil moisture falls and the deep roots can no longer supply these big leaves with water, the foliage turns cannibal and starts sucking the juices from the developing fruits. With this loss of internal juices, the bottom tissues of each tomato collapse.

Last spring—and the spring before—I suggested a method of preventing blossom-end rot in tomatoes by ensuring a small but never-failing

I imagine just about the busiest spot in town last night was the Victoria Curling Rink, where a small army of volunteer workers was setting up the big Fall Flower Show of the Victoria Horticultural Society. Truckloads of chrysanthemums, mounds of dahlias and glads, and other flowers were arriving, along with enough fruit and vegetables to stock a supermarket.

The show will be open to the public from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. today, and from 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Saturday, closing with an auction sale of flowers and plants tomorrow night. Admission is 50 cents, children free when accompanied by adults.

Who Could Leave Ava?

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Anna Maria Alberghetti and Charles Gorman will honeymoon in Honolulu, at the Kahala Hilton, following the wedding on Saturday. They can't stay long, unfortunately. Claudio will soon be starting rehearsals for the musical version of Brave New World. Barbara Streisand's Funny Girl will be Happy Girl for London. Seven Arts boss Ray Stark is now over there making the arrangements. He was explaining why he made a happy ending for the film version of Night of the Iguana, leaving Richard Widmark with Ava Gardner, instead of going off into the wild blue nothing as he did in the play. "What man could leave Ava? It was different with older women like Bette Davis and Margaret Leighton in the play." Ouch. Bette won't mind, but Maggie will. Especially as she is about the same age as Ava.

with Zamba, the lion in Fluffy. This is the same Zamba who was flown to Africa to star in The Lion with William Holden and Capucine. It must be a tame sort of pussycat, and in any case, who would want to co-star with a wild king of the jungle? Certainly not Bill or Cap. Or me.

Judy Garland's petite 18-year-old daughter, Lisa Minnelli, auditioned for the Audrey Hepburn role in the stage musical version of Roman Holiday. Lisa looked a treat dancing the tango or the watusi or what-have-you at the Four Seasons party given by showman Joe Levine following the premiere of his Fully Addicted screen biography, A House Is Not A Home. As I told Joe, this is just about the most immoral film I remember seeing. And as immoral films and books seem to be a requisite for success today, I am sure his picture will make a lot of money.

Red Steiger was explaining that he has been allowed to use one room of the Malibu Beach home which he rented while working in the east. He moves back tomorrow into all the rooms... Wife Claire Bloom is talling in England, but joins him in time to hear all the raves for her role in The Outrage. This most interesting picture is based on the stage play Rashomon, in which Claire co-starred with Steiger. It was their first meeting, and now look at them.

Peter O'Toole's telling punch at a paparazi in Rome has all the Hollywood stars cheering. The pesky flies (literal translation) make him miserable for any foreign celebrity on the Via Veneto. It takes an Italian to take it all in stride—as Bonanno himself did when we were driving with some of his guests out of the Excelsior driveway and the photographers descended like locusts. Romanos grabbed the wife of a friend and went into a big blaring pose. And how those cameras clicked! When wife Lydia saw the photographs in a magazine, she laughed and laughed. She knows the paparazi. And her spouse.

ART BUCHWALD Aids Ailing Tree

The Age of Specialists

WASHINGTON — The age of specialization has touched every part of our society. Recently we had tree trouble. A beautiful large oak was dying and we immediately called a tree surgeon.

At first he didn't want to come. "I'm sorry, I don't make house calls," he explained. "Then I'll cut down the tree and bring it into your office." We cried hysterically. "Don't panic. I'll come over."

Three days later he arrived. He walked over to the oak and shook his head. He touched the trunk once, looked up at the branches, and said: "You have a very sick tree here."

"I know it. What can you do to save it?"

"I don't like the look of those lower limbs."

"Neither do I," we said. "What can you do about the limbs?"

"I'm not a limb man," the tree surgeon explained. "I only do general trunk work."

"Do you know a good limb man?"

A few days later the limb man came. He was all business.

"You've got two broken limbs and a wound on your main branch. Also, I don't like those stub lesions which are bleeding sap."

"Do what has to be done," we said.

"I can't touch the limbs until we heal up the lesions."

"Then heal them."

"I'm not a stub lesion expert. I'll give you the name of one. When he gets finished, I'll come back and work on the limbs. That will be $50, please."

The stub lesion surgeon arrived and worked for 20 minutes. Then he said, "Your tree is suffering from malnutrition. It has to be fed."

"Feed it," we begged, "and don't worry about the cost."

"I don't feed trees," he said indignantly. "You need a root man for that."

"You don't know of a root man, do you?" we asked.

"There's one out in Chevy Chase. I'll see if I can get him to come. That will be $75."

Katimavik

Inverted Pyramid To Highlight Fair

By ALEC MORRISON

OTTAWA (UPI) — A 100-foot-high inverted pyramid, dubbed "Katimavik," will be the highlight of the $21,000,000 Canadian Pavilion at the 1967 Montreal World's Fair, unveiled Thursday by Trade Minister Sharp.

The "Katimavik," or meeting place as the word is defined from its Eskimo origin, will be open at the top to the sun and stars and its four slanting walls will hold massive exhibits centered on the theme of Expo 67, Man in the World.

The other startling exhibit in the Canadian pavilion will be Our Way of Life symbolized by a giant "tree" resembling a sugar maple in autumn foliage. The display is divided into four parts, the roots, the soil, the trunk and the leaves, representing all aspects of the growth of the Canadian culture.

Construction of the eight-acre project will begin in 1965 and is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1966.

Other exhibits will include: The Making of Canada, The Achievements of Canada, Canada and the World, and The Arts of Canada. Only one of the many exhibits will be of a permanent nature.

The arts display, including the revolutionary 550-seat theatre, will be turned over to the National Theatre School on conclusion of the fair to provide the school with a permanent home. It will be built at a cost of $3,000,000.

SASKATOON (CP)—A police force of 1,500 men will handle all aspects of security, safety and troubleshooting at the 1967 World's Fair.

H. J. Poudrette, administrator of security services for the 1967 exposition, and a veteran of 34 years with the RCMP, said at the annual convention of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police that about 10,000,000 persons, paying a total of 20,000,000 visits, were expected to arrive for the exhibition.

The force responsible for policing the fair, he said, would be trained in keeping pedestrians moving, handling emergency aid cases, taking care of lost children, and preventing trouble.

Chronic Patients Need Home Care

VANCOUVER (CP)—A hospital official said Thursday chronic illness must be fought with such methods as rehabilitation, retraining and home care rather than endless building of new hospital facilities.

The remarks of Dr. W. Douglas Piercy of Toronto, executive director of the Canadian Hospital Association, were echoed by Dr. Bernice Russell Wylie of Vancouver who said "bed rest" often means "bed rot."

The two were addressing a joint meeting of the Western Canada Hospital Institute and the B.C. Hospitals Association. Dr. Piercy said unless alternative solutions are developed an aging population will tax hospital beds and facilities far beyond their capacity.

He said the number of hospitals in Canada has doubled since the end of the Second World War.

But chronic illness, mental patients, alcoholics and communicable disease patients were placing higher demands on the institutions.

LIVE LONGER

"We're increasing the life span all the time. A Canadian male now can expect to live to 68, a female past 70. But by doing this we're bringing a lot more people to the ages when chronic diseases become apparent."

He said hospitals could be built indefinitely but they would never take care of all who could use them. The alternative was rehabilitation, retraining, home care and other methods.

The old concept of putting the chronic to bed had been changed to one of keeping them physically and mentally active.

Police Charge Father In Son's Traffic Death

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — A father was charged with running over his 12-year-old son and leaving the scene of the accident. The boy died.

The father, William Thomas Turner, 37, was found hiding in the attic of his home, Sheriff J. Kenneth Gross said.

The boy, Randal, was riding home from school on his bicycle when he was struck, Gross said. The sheriff said the father apparently did not know it was his son.

Senate Reopens Baker Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Senate, after a bitter partisan debate, voted Thursday night to reopen the politically potent Bobby Baker case less than two months before election.

The Senate directed its rules committee to investigate charges that a $25,000 "kick-back" on a government contract was funnelled through Baker to the Kennedy-Johnson presidential campaign in 1960.

The resolution was sponsored by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

Ontario Votes Change Little

TORONTO (CP) — Two by-elections in Ontario Thursday made little difference to provincial House standings. NDP candidate James Reawick won an upset victory in Toronto Riverdale, formerly Progressive Conservative, and in Windsor-Sandwich, Tory Ivan Thrasher won a seat formerly held by a Liberal.

Warships Sharing Exercise

By DON GAIN

Ten Esquimalt-based naval vessels steamed out of harbor just before midnight Thursday to join units of the U.S. Pacific fleet in a week-long anti-submarine exercise off the Pacific coast.

Also taking part is HMCS Grisea, the command submarine, which left Thursday morning and is en route to the initial exercise area.

AND AIRCRAFT

Aircraft from the RCAF's 407 Squadron at Comox and from VU-33, the navy's auxiliary squadron at Patricia Bay, are also participating.

Approximately 1,350 officers and men from Pacific Command are involved in the exercise which has the code name of Hardshot.

Vice-Admiral John Hayward, UEN, commander anti-submarine warfare force Pacific with headquarters at Pearl Harbor, will conduct the exercise. Canadian maritime units are under the command of Rear-Admiral W. M. Leandymore, flag officer Pacific coast.

SUBMARINE C.O.

"Opposition forces" will be commanded by Rear-Admiral Eugene Eluekey, USN, commander submarine force U.S. Pacific fleet.

A similar exercise was held a year ago.

It has the dual purpose of training air and maritime elements in tactics and procedures against submarines and also of training submarine forces in making wartime transit and patrol.

DEFENCE TESTS

Exercise Hardshot and Chinook Knife India, announced Thursday by 25th Region NORAD, are separate exercises and are related only in that they both test the defence structure of the West Coast, a navy spokesman said.

Esquimalt-based ships taking part are the destroyer-escort HMCS Sankatchewan, Qu'Appelle, Fraser and Mackenzie and the ocean-escorts HMCS Sussexvale, Stettler, Antigonish, Beacon Hill, New Glasgow and Jonquiere.

Impaired Driver Hit Parked Car, Gets $300 Fine

Henry Deamond Taylor, 1401 Taunton Road, was fined $300 and his licence was suspended in Victoria magistrate's court Thursday on a charge of impaired driving.

Taylor collided with a parked car on Richmond near Kings Road at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, court was told. His attitude at the scene of the accident was described by the prosecutor as belligerent and arrogant. His blood alcohol count was given as .17.

The collision resulted in $800 damage to Taylor's car, $450 to the parked car.

Those fined Thursday on charges of careless driving were responsible for a total of $1,575 damage to cars.

At Cathedral

Flower Show Sept. 18

A flower show will be held in Memorial Hall, Christ Church Cathedral, from 2 to 9 p.m. Sept. 18 and from 1 to 9 p.m. Sept. 19, sponsored by Mt. Tolmie Boy Scouts and Girl Guides hall committee.

Exhibitors will be members of Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society. Dahlias also will be exhibited.

Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett will officially open the show at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Miss Victoria, Linda Gower, will distribute awards at 9 p.m. Saturday. Auction of blooms will follow.

Home baking will be on sale and tea and coffee will be served.

Fluoridation By Bylaw Suggested

B.C. and Yukon Junior Chamber of Commerce asked the provincial cabinet Thursday to introduce legislation at the next session to let municipalities introduce fluoridation by bylaw without the necessity of a referendum.

Premier Bennett told the delegation that the request would be referred to the health department for study. Health Minister Eric Martin is away on holiday until next week and Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said he hasn't yet given any thought to the suggested change in the Municipal Act.

The Municipal Act at present requires a three-fifths majority vote of electors in favor of fluoridation before it can be introduced. In Greater Vancouver water districts alone there are 14 municipalities who must approve it before any action could be taken.

Bennett 'Sells' Olympic Site

Access and transportation are the main requirements at present for creation of a potential Winter Olympic Games site at Garibaldi, Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan said Thursday.

He was commenting on the telegram sent by Premier Bennett to the Canadian Olympic Association in Montreal saying there is no better site in North America for the 1972 Winter games than Whistler Mountain, at the north end of Garibaldi Park.

"The B.C. government is co-operating with the Garibaldi Olympic Association to develop Whistler Mountain as the 1972 Winter Olympic Games site and will do everything possible to make the 1972 Winter Olympic Games the most successful ever held," Mr. Bennett said in his wire.

Community Plans Fair

Strawberry Vale Community Club will hold its 13th annual Fall Fair from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday in the Strawberry Vale Hall at Burnside and High Street.

Bingo, pony rides, exhibits and food stalls will be featured at the fair, with a dance in the evening.

Frederick Jordens, 624 Gorge Road East, fined $50 for careless driving, hit two parked cars at 3:30 a.m. Aug. 23 on Rock Bay Avenue near Gorge. Damage to his car was $150 and a total of $375 to the parked vehicles.

On Aug. 23, Richard Ridings, 3820 Ascot Drive, hit a car at the Pandora-Belmont intersection which resulted in $100 damage to his car and $250 to the other. He was fined $45.

Four witnesses reported to police that Arthur Gale, 2013 Oak Bay Avenue, was dragging at about 50 miles an hour on July 13 when he hit a car going in the same southerly direction as it changed lanes. Skid marks from Gale's vehicle were traced by police for 200 feet, 131 feet before the collision and 69 feet after.

Damage to Gale's car and the car hit was $150 for each. Gale was fined $50 on a charge of careless driving.

A taxi driver speeding west on Hillside at 58 miles per hour on behalf of passengers who were late was fined $30 on a speeding charge and an extra $25 for passing on the right.

The driver, Peter Gormely, 235 Belleville, committed the offences Aug. 18.

Azora Paquette, 1411 Harrison, paid $25 for passing when unsafe. At 9 p.m. on Aug. 17, while going east on Yates, she passed a car and almost collided with an oncoming police vehicle.

Damage was $300 to the car driven by Teunis Slagboom, 1578 Derby, when on Aug. 18, he failed to yield the right of way at Cedar Hill Road and Kings and hit another car. Damage to the car hit was $100. Slagboom was fined $30.

Arthur Green, 770 Hill, who had forgotten to renew his driver's licence since its expiration Nov. 28, 1962, paid $20 for failing to renew plus $15 on a speeding charge.

A man who by night is Lawyer Cribbens, the villain of The Drunkard, Frederick R. Hill, 255 Blackwood, paid $30 on a charge of going east on Bastion Street, which is for traffic going west only. Hill said he was a stranger to the city and did not notice the Do Not Enter signs.

For being a minor in possession of liquor, Russell Boyd, 19, of 2213 Windsor, who was observed outside a downtown liquor store with one dozen beer and a 13-ounce bottle of gin, was fined $20.

In Saanich police magistrate's court Helge Isdahl lost his licence and was fined $75 for: travelling 60 miles an hour in a 40-mile-an-hour zone, going through a red light at Tillicum Road and ignoring the stop signs at Burnside and at Gorge—all while a police car was following.

Isdahl said in court Thursday he was afraid if he were caught he would lose his licence.

He has had a number of previous traffic violation convictions and was, he said, paying $470 a year for insurance.

Taking a short-cut through Shelbourne shopping centre to avoid the traffic light at Cedar Hill Cross Road and Shelbourne, cost Constantino Dominique a $40 fine on a charge of careless driving.

After the short-cut, Dominique hit a car when he turned left out of the centre onto Shelbourne.

William J. Davies, 244 Hartland, told court the reason his truck hit a telephone pole was that he reached over to adjust some groceries.

The damage to his truck was $500 and a fine for careless driving $50.

Plumbing contractor John C. Shaw, 2850 The Rise, was fined $200 plus $3.50 costs for not paying before the due date $146.99 income tax that he had deducted from employee salaries.

Committee Takes On Flag Issue

OTTAWA (CP)—With a sigh of relief, the Commons mercifully suspended the flag debate Thursday and gave a committee six weeks to come up with an acceptable design.

Dr. Taylor:

Education Today's Necessity

VANCOUVER (CP)—The president of the University of Victoria said Thursday night this is the age of education and Canadians must realize it.

Dr. Malcolm Taylor said in a speech to the annual banquet of the Western Canada Hospitals Association that in every three Canadian children never gets past Grade 8 in school.

Yet a man with no more than a Grade 8 education was ineligible for 70 per cent of today's jobs.

NEW FORCES

A major challenge of today was raising education standards and providing facilities.

"New forces are cutting at the roots of our well-being. Unemployment is sapping our national growth and human morale. We have a labor force seriously underqualified. We face a threat of isolation from world markets."

"Separatist movements are striking at the foundation of Confederation. There is a creeping malaise of the spirit."

POSSIBLE?

"Is it possible for a free nation of free men to contrive the means whereby society can continue to flourish and foster the growth and development of everybody in it?"

There are grave doubts that it can be done, he said.

"We recognize we must take stronger measures than we have taken so far."

"With an average of four per cent of our labor force unemployed, our productivity is clearly at least four per cent less than it might have been. In each of the years 1962 and 1963 this amounted to a loss of more than $2,000,000,000 in our gross national product."

"The age of the ploughshare and the axe opened up the west. But this is the age of education, and we must realize it."

'Liberation Army' Arab Plan

ALEXANDRIA, U.A.R. (UPI)—The 13-nation Arab bloc, in a major move against Israel, Thursday night approved formation of a Palestinian "liberation army."

Informed sources said $30,000,000 was pledged to the army by the United Arab Republic, Saudi Arabia, Iraq and Kuwait.

ARMY COMMAND

U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser told the Arab heads of states meeting here at their second summit conference that he would place the Sinai Peninsula and the Gaza Strip at the disposal of the Palestinian Liberation Front, which will command the army.

Cheques Uncashed

OTTAWA (CP)—Privy Council President George McInnis said Thursday Opposition Leader Diefenbaker is not cashing cheques covering the increased expense allowances for Members of Parliament. Nor have the cheques been returned.

Pension Plan Pushes On On Schedule

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Judy LaMarsh told the Commons Thursday that the government still intends to have the Canada Pension Plan in operation by Jan. 1, 1966.

She made the statement as the Commons turned away from the flag debate and resumed consideration of the health department's $2,000,000,000 spending program for the fiscal year ending next March.

Stanley Knowles, House leader for the New Democratic Party and his group's spokesman on health matters, urged that the legislation be placed before the Commons by next week.

TIME SHORT

He said time was running short for the government to meet the Jan. 1 deadline.

Charles Arthur Gauthier (Creditiste-Roberval) said he wasn't impressed by the pension plan. It would take money from the pockets of family men earning as little as $3,000 and in 20 or 30 years "return only crumbs."

He said it would be better if the government increased the present old age pension of $75 monthly to $100 or $125 and made it payable at age 65 without a means test.

HEALTH PLAN

Miss LaMarsh also said that a health plan for the nation is still some time away. The first report of the royal commission on health now was under intensive study by 14 committees in her department.

The government's position on the commission report would be completed in time for a federal-provincial conference on health early in 1965.

Miss LaMarsh said that first youth allowances cheques will be received by about 375,000 parents at the end of this month.

ALLOWANCES

The allowances of $10 monthly were passed by Parliament last month and are to go to parents of 16- and 17-year-olds who are in school or unable to attend school because of ill health.

The program would cost $27,600,000 in the fiscal year ending March 31 and about $45,000,000 over a full year, she said.

The budget for the fitness and amateur sport branch of her department was being raised to $3,000,000 from $2,000,000.

Blazes Bring Havoc

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A major fire—possibly set by an arsonist—burned out of control in heavy brush Thursday night, the largest of several southern California blazes which erupted in 100-degree heat and extremely low humidity.

The fire, 45 miles north of here, had burned by nightfall at least 3,500 acres, all valuable watershed brush.

More than 500 men from the U.S. Forest Service and county fire departments fought the blaze.

Brutal Beating

Attempted Murder Charged

By BOB PETHICK

His head covered with blood, a young man staggered from thick brush at 1 p.m. Thursday to collapse on the porch at 4481 Prospect Lake Road.

Four hours later, Saanich detectives near the scene of the brutal beating arrested two Victoria men found in the bushes.

Charges of attempted murder, robbery with violence, and car theft have been laid against two men, who will appear in Saanich magistrate's court at 10 a.m. today.

THIRD HUNTED

Police are seeking a third man.

The beaten man, Nicola Zegoric, in his 30s, of no fixed address, was in only fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital at press time, with severe head injuries.

Zegoric, believed to have been from out of town and visiting Victoria, was arrested Wednesday night on a charge of being drunk in a public place. He was released Thursday morning.

BOTTLES FOUND

At the scene of the beating, at the southern end of Prospect Lake, police found broken bottles.

Saanich detectives believed Zegoric was picked up somewhere in Victoria and taken to Prospect Lake by car.

The car had apparently parked at the end of a small lane off the 4400 block Prospect Lake Road. The young man and his assailants walked farther on up a steep hill to the place where the beating took place.

PAPERS IN BUSHES

Police found blood on a stone and on leaves at the scene. Zegoric's personal papers were found in the bushes nearby.

His wallet was later found by Saanich police dog Rex, who brought it to dogmaster Const. James White.

Two men were arrested near the lane by Saanich Det. Robin Stewart and Saanich Det. Ron Coulter and Corp. Robert King of the RCMP.

SAW HIM FALL

Police found Zegoric's car on Prospect Lake Road after making the arrests, but did not explain how the car got there.

The beaten man crawled and staggered about a quarter of a mile toward the home of Mrs. M. J. Collin, said police.

Mrs. Collin told police she saw him fall, apparently unconscious. He got up again and came toward the house. Then he collapsed near the porch. Mrs. Collin phoned the Saanich fire department ambulance.

Thursday evening police took out a search warrant to search a Victoria apartment.

Vehemence Not Violence Quebec Plan

MONTREAL (CP)—Pierre Bourgault, president of Le Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale, said Thursday night the Quebec separatist organization has no intention of "giving the Queen a warm welcome" and will not be "polite."

He told a party meeting Le Rassemblement "will be in Quebec City" on her arrival there Oct. 18 and that Quebecers should protest her visit "with vehemence."

But he added: "I do not say with violence."

Pinelands Slow Dora's Punch

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Dora lost her punch Thursday night in the pinelands of northern Florida. President Johnson declared her earlier path of flood and destruction a major disaster area.

A team of top-level investigators planned to fly to St. Augustine and Jacksonville, Fla., and Brunswick, Ga., today to assess the damage so federal rehabilitation grants can be made.

The U.S. small business administration also declared stricken sections of Georgia and Florida disaster areas. That will enable home owners and businessmen to secure low-interest loans for the big repair job ahead.

EYE CLOSES

Dora, once a massive storm, deteriorated as she marched from St. Augustine to the state capital of Tallahassee and westward through the Florida panhandle.

Her eye, which passed directly over St. Augustine, oldest city in the U.S., during the pre-dawn darkness, almost completely disappeared. The highest winds recorded inland were less than 50 miles an hour.

NO POWER

Jacksonville and St. Augustine were both left largely without power. Many of their streets were flooded by an eight-foot tide. Dozens of buildings were damaged by water and winds of more than 100 miles an hour.

Damage was unofficially estimated in the tens of millions of dollars.

About 100 miles to the north, the resort city of Brunswick, Ga., stirred back to life after taking its worst pounding in 20 years.

The Red Cross, which said it housed and fed 32,000 persons in 370 shelters in Florida, Georgia and South Carolina, pledged all-out aid to help hurricane victims recover.

Fickle Sally Veers Misses Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—Sally lived up to the fickle nature of typhoons today.

She changed her mind and direction six times and finally veered east of this tightly shuttered colony, causing relatively little damage.

Weather experts throughout the South China Sea had predicted Typhoon Sally would be "one of the worst in living memory."

However, her winds turned out to be slight compared to the 180-mile-an-hour attack Typhoon Ruby hurled against Hong Kong six days ago.

Ruby left 41 killed, more than 300 injured and 50,000 homeless, plus three ships sunk and 15 grounded.

Sally carried a sting, even though she was a lightweight compared with Ruby.

At last count her toll was one dead, 20 injured and more than 9,000 refugees evacuated from their shacks.

Two landslides caused by the more than four inches of rain which followed Sally were reported to have trapped several people in their homes.

One person was injured and another trapped when two rocks weighing about ten tons fell onto a shack. Several house collapses were reported.

Typhoon Sally played a cat-and-mouse game with Hong Kong. The wounds inflicted by Ruby had still not healed by Thursday morning and this overcrowded colony made extensive preparations, expecting the worst.

Ecumenical Council Reopens Monday

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Pope Paul VI opens the third session of the Vatican's historic ecumenical council Monday with more than 2,000 prelates gathered in St. Peter's Basilica to pave the way for Christian unity.

The bishops, who come from all over the world to continue the work begun by the late Pope John XXIII in 1962, are scheduled to deal with several major decrees.

These decrees are expected to form a basis for the Roman Catholic Church to meet the needs of modern times and to guide it along the road to Christian unity.

Many of the prelates will be hoping that this third session will be the final phase of the world assembly's work while others are convinced that a fourth session will be essential.

When Pope Paul closed the council's second session last December, the assembly had only approved two of the items on its agenda.

One was a liturgical decree introducing wide-ranging reforms in public worship. Its provisions, including partial introduction of modern languages into the mass instead of Latin, are already being put into effect in some countries.

The most important decrees left over have been carefully revised by expert commissions. Others were ruthlessly cut down and reduced to simple "propositions" which will be presented for voting without full-scale debate.

The council's rules of procedure have also been revised to speed up debate.

The first scheduled item on the agenda will be a draft decree entitled "De Ecclesia," defining the nature of the church, the relationship between the Pope and bishops and allied questions.

Another draft decree on the agenda is called "ecumenism" and deals with ways to encourage Christian unity and promote mutual understanding in inter-faith relationships.

The first three chapters, revised after a full debate last year, will be presented for final approval. Two controversial declarations appended to the decree have yet to be discussed.

ONE OF THEM

One of them concerns relations with Jews. The original draft has been revised, but it is understood to retain its stress that the Jews of today cannot be accused of responsibility for Christ's crucifixion and must never be regarded as an "accursed" people.
